ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

No academic work, whatever its scope or worth, can conceivably be completed without the able guidance of a mentor. I was fortunate enough to be benefited by the scholarly guidance of my supervisor, Reverend Dr. Y.K. Tiwari, Associate Professor of Law, University of Jodhpur, Jodhpur. I wish to express my deepest and profound gratitude to him, who despite his preoccupation, took unfailing interest, gave encouragement, wise and sound consultation both at the stage of planning and arrangement of the scheme of this work as well as at the stage of its final presentation.

This study was aided by University Grants Commission. I am grateful to University Grants Commission for helping me in the completion of this study.

I would like to express my gratitude to Dr. Veena Majumdar, Director, Centre for Women's Development Studies, New Delhi, Mrs. Agnihotri of International Labour Organisation Office, New Delhi, International Labour Organisation, Geneva and Mr. A.S. Bhardwaj, Director, Labour Bureau, Simla for the generous help in sending me valuable material on women labour.

During the course of my study, I had to visit numerous libraries, including Libraries of International Labour Organisation, Ministry of Labour, Ministry of Social and Women Welfare, Shri Ram Institute of Labour Relations and National Labour Institute. I owe my thanks to Librarians and their staff for their commendable co-operation.

A number of women workers, employers, organizations and knowledgeable persons extended co-operation during the field work. I remember them with gratitude.

I would like to express my gratitude to my parents for their support and encouragement. I would like to express my gratitude to my brother Bawa and sister Lovell for their co-operation.

This work could not have been successfully completed without the support, encouragement and assistance of my husband, Ronald Bryant.

I may also acknowledge my indebtedness to Dr. K. Navlani, Kulvinder Mangat, Arvind Kamboj and Samyukht Sandhu for their valuable suggestions and commendable co-operation.
