ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis is dedicated to my family whose support has proved invaluable to my research.

Pursuing a Ph.D. project is a both painful and enjoyable experience. It’s just like climbing a high peak, step by step, accompanied with bitterness, hardships, frustration, encouragement and trust and with so many people’s kind help. When I found myself at the top enjoying the beautiful scenery, I realized that it was, in fact, teamwork that got me there. Though it will not be enough to express my gratitude in words to all those people who helped me, I would still like to give my many-many thanks to all these people.

FIRST OF ALL I thank the Almighty for his limitless blessings and guidance. Without his will I would have never found the right path. His mercy has been with me throughout my life and ever more in this study.

I would like to express my deep and sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Professor (Dr.) P.S. Jaswal, Chairman, Department of Laws, Panjab University, Chandigarh. His wide knowledge and his logical way of thinking have been of great value for me. I am thankful to him for his detailed and constructive comments, and for his important support throughout this work as it provided the right mix of expertise, experience, criticism, encouragement and challenges. It would not have been possible for me at all to come up with this thesis without his valuable support and continued unending guidance, more so for sparing time out of his intensive busy schedule from time to time in the course of completing my thesis. I am very proud of our joint efforts to achieve this goal.

I owe my most sincere gratitude to Sh. Pawan Kumar Bansal, Hon’ble Union Minister for Parliamentary Affairs and Water Resources, Govt. of India for his kind and precious support and encouragement. He encouraged me most generously by allowing me access to his entire collection and lent his books whenever I needed them for which I will always be grateful to him. His ideals and concepts have had a remarkable influence on my career.

I have enormous gratitude for Dr. Anmol Rattan Sidhu, Senior Advocate, Assistant Solicitor General of India under whose shadow I started my practice in law and who has always been available with his precious support whenever I turned towards him.

I can’t forget the support given by Sh. Pawan Kumar Mutneja, Advocate, Former Additional Advocate General, Haryana with whom I started my law practice in Punjab & Haryana High Court and practised as such till I was appointed in the o/o Advocate General, Haryana. The law practice with him instilled a vital confidence in me and enhanced my aptitude which in turn has helped me a lot in the research. I will always remain grateful to him.

My sincere thanks are due to Sh. P.M. Saini, Deputy Secretary, Haryana Vidhan Sabha for his moral guidance, valuable suggestions, excellent support and help. His extensive discussions around my work and interesting explorations in reasearch have been very helpful for this study. He has always been there to listen and to answer my queries relating to the topic of research.

I am again thankful to the Almighty for having showered upon me the momentous opportunity i.e. for enabling me to become a member of the Task Force in the 2nd Commission on Centre-State Relations constituted under the Chairmanship of Hon’ble Mr. Justice M.M. Punchhi (Retd.), former Chief Justice of India. The discussions in the meetings of the task force have extensively contributed to my thinking and understanding of the topic of research. I also fondly remember the other respected members of the task force and all those people I met at the Conferences/Seminars on federalism and Centre-State Relations in India especially their ‘federal’ enthusiasm, with whom I had discussions and meetings on the topic of my research. The discussions/meetings aptly added to my aptitude in the area of reasearch.
I owe my loving thanks to my wife Yogita Jindal, my daughters Lakshanya and Payal for their encouragement and understanding. My daughters never disturbed my study table during my research. It would have been impossible for me to finish this work without their continuous support and their patience while so many times I was so busy with my research.

My special gratitude is due to my brother Mukesh, his wife Miti, my Youngest brother Rakesh for their loving support. I would also express my thanks to father-in-law of my brother Mukesh i.e. Mr. Bipan Singla, Advocate for guiding me. My special thanks are also due to my sister Priyanka, her husband Mr. Kapil Bankeraika, C.A. and their family for their incessant support and encouragement. I also take this opportunity to pay my gratitude in particular to my sister’s father-in-law Mr. B.K. Bankeraika, an advocate and Masters in Law (LL.M), for his blessings and valuable tips in completing my thesis. His invaluable guidance on practice in law has always proved helpful to me.

FINALLY I will fail in my duty if I do not express my most special regards for my revered parents whose deep encouragement, continuous support and guidance had always been a strong driving force in my life and in completing my thesis in particular. I am forever indebted to them for their understanding and for having always stayed behind me and pushing me ahead with the best of gifts ever i.e. education. Their love and care carried me through some difficult moments in my life. Their prayers and inspiration led to this accomplishment.
