ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The author was introduced to the field of research in the Department of Education, Stella Matutina College of Education, Chennai in 1994. In this effort I have received whole hearted encouragement and valuable guidance from my supervising teacher, Dr. Radha Mohan, Senior Lecturer, Faculty of Education, Stella Matutina College of Education under the University of Madras. A dedicated teacher and scholar, she gave me in abundance the benefit of her perspective mind and vast erudition at all stages of this study. It is my great pleasure to express my deep sense of gratitude to this great and affectionate teacher and her family members. I am indebted to Professor P.S. Balasubramanian, Tagore Chair, University of Madras, Formerly Head of the Department of Education, University of Madras, from whom I received valuable advice and instruction throughout this study. I acknowledge with gratitude the generous help given me by the Faculty members of Stella Matutina College of Education.

I gratefully remember the encouragement given me by Rev. Sr. Gerosa and Prof. Gnamambal, former Principals of Stella Matutina College of Education. Dr. (Sr.) Marsiana, the present Principal, was always a source of inspiration for the completion of the thesis.

I acknowledge my deep gratitude to Sr. Clarisa in extending her co-operation for the completion of this research programme. I gratefully remember the valuable advice and help rendered by Dr. PonnuSwamy.
Department of Statistics, University of Madras, Dr.D.Rajaganesan, Head of the Department of Education, University of Madras, Dr.Anbupazhan, Lecturer, Presidency College, Chennai, Mrs. Vasantha Jothy, Programmer, University of Madras.

I am extremely indebted to the late Archbishop of Trivandrum, His Grace Benedict Mar Gregorios for permitting me to conduct the research programme in the University of Madras, when I was Principal of Sacred Heart Higher Secondary School, Padi, Chennai. His Grace, Cyril Mar Baselios, the Metropolitan Archbishop of Trivandrum, was a source of strength and inspiration for the completion of this thesis.

I gratefully remember the selfless assistance rendered by a number of persons for the completion of this work. I sincerely acknowledge the help and assistance rendered by the Librarians of the University Library, Chennai; British Council Library, Chennai; Connemera Library, Chennai; Library of Stella Matutina College of Education; Library of U.S. Information Service, Chennai; and British Council Library, Trivandrum.

I sincerely acknowledge the help and assistance rendered by Rev.Dr.K.C.George, S.J., Principal Mr.Bobby P.Varghese, Computer Personnel with high dedication, Miss Sini Thomas, member of faculty of Mar Gregorios College, Chennai.
I express my deep gratitude to the Principal and staff members of the Sacred Heart Matriculation Higher Secondary School, Chennai and all the Principals, Headmasters, Teachers, Students and Parents for the whole hearted co-operation in the completion of the survey.

I am deeply touched by the pains taken by Dr. Ancy Kuruvila of the Integrated Softwares, Kariavattom in going through the text of the thesis and making necessary suggestions in the computer analysis. But for the selfless assistance of Mr. P. A. Joykutty, a friend, philosopher and guide from Chennai this thesis might not have developed to this shape. I whole heartedly acknowledge their dedicated service.

Above all, I bow my head to Almighty God with all humility and gratitude for leading and enabling me to the completion of this thesis.
