ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The author desires to express deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to his supervisor Dr. S.K. Goyal, Professor, P.G. Irrigation and Hydraulics, Punjab Engineering College, Chandigarh, for his untiring help, inspiring guidance, constant encouragement and invaluable suggestions throughout this research work.

The author feels obliged to all officers of Irrigation Departments of Panjab, Haryana, Rajasthan, Bhakra Beas Management Board and Central Water Commission for making available the data required for the preparation of this thesis.

The author appreciates the inspiration, understanding and co-operation provided by his family members during the course of this research work.

DINESH CHANDER