Chapter: I

INTRODUCTION

1.1: Introduction
   1.1.1: What is Gender Inequality?
   1.1.2: Characteristics of Gender Inequality
   1.1.3: Determinants of Gender Inequality
   1.1.4: Indicators of Gender Inequality
   1.1.5: Different Facets of Gender Inequality
   1.1.6: Economic Facets of Gender Inequality

1.2: Need of the Study

1.3: Statement of the Problem

1.4: Objectives of the Study

1.5: Hypotheses

1.6: Methodology
   1.6.1: Area and Period of Study
   1.6.2: Universe and Sample Size
   1.6.3: Data Collection
   1.6.4: Sampling
   1.6.5: Analysis of Data

1.7: Limitations of the Study

1.8: Chapter Scheme

1.9: Conclusion
Chapter: II

REVIEW OF LITERATURE

2.1: Introduction

2.1.1: Religion and Caste System

2.1.2: Status of Women in Society and Religion

2.1.3: Educational and Occupational Mobility

2.1.4: Gender Inequality: Different Facets

2.1.4.1: Gender Inequality in Education

2.1.4.2: Gender Inequality in Employment

2.1.4.3: Gender Inequality in Income

2.1.4.4: Other Facets of Gender Inequality

2.2 Research Gap

2.3 Conclusion
Chapter: III

STATUS OF WOMEN AND GENDER INEQUALITY

Section: A

3.1: Status of Women in India: The Past and the Present
3.2: Status of Women: From Sociological Point of View
3.3: Status of Women: From Economic Point of View
   3.3.1: Importance of Women in Economic Development
   3.3.2: Role of Women in Economy
   3.3.3: Opportunities for Economic Participation and Women
   3.3.4: Women in Indian Economy
   3.3.5: Female Work Participation Rate in India

Section: B

3.4: Meaning of Gender
3.5: Gender vs. Sex
3.6: Meaning of Gender Inequality
3.7: The Origin of Gender Inequality
3.8: Perspective of Gender Inequality
3.9: What Causes Gender Inequality
3.10: Indicators of Gender Inequality
3.11: Gender Inequality from ‘Capability Approach’ Perspective
3.12: Types of Gender Inequality
3.13: Socializing Institutions on Gender Inequality
3.14: Gender Inequality around the World
3.15: Gender Inequality in Indian Context
3.16: Social Costs of Gender Inequality
3.17: Solution to Gender Inequality
3.18: Elimination of Gender Inequality: Constituent and Legal Provision by Indian Government
3.19: Conclusion
Chapter: IV

BIJAPUR DISTRICT: IT’S ECONOMY AND HIGHER EDUCATION

Section A: Economy of Bijapur District

4.1: Introduction
4.2: History of Bijapur District
4.3: Geographical Profile
   4.3.1: Location
   4.3.2: General Boundaries
   4.3.3: Area and Features
   4.3.4: Climate and Temperature
   4.3.5: Rainfall
   4.3.6: Soil
   4.3.7: Rivers
4.4: Demographic Profile
   4.4.1: Population
   4.4.2: Density of Population
   4.4.3: Urban-Rural Population
   4.4.4: Sex Ratio and Children Population
   4.4.5: Religion-wise Population
   4.4.6: Religion-wise Population
   4.4.7: Scheduled Caste Population
4.5: Economic Profile
   4.5.1: Agriculture
   4.5.2: Land Utilization
   4.5.3: Land Holdings
   4.5.4: Irrigation
   4.5.5: Crop Pattern
   4.5.6: Horticulture
   4.5.7: Agricultural Marketing and Problems of Agriculture in Bijapur
   4.5.8: Animal Husbandry
4.5.9: Industries
4.5.10: Work Force Participation
4.5.11: Number Employees in Industrial units in Bijapur district
4.5.12: Banking
4.5.13: Transport and Communication

4.6: Others
4.6.1: Literacy
4.6.2: Education
4.6.3: Health
4.6.4: Literature
4.6.5: Tourism

4.7: Conclusion

Section B: Higher Education in Bijapur District

4.8: Introduction
4.9: Higher Education in India
  4.9.1: Ancient and Medieval
  4.9.2: During British Period
  4.9.3: After Independence
4.10: Higher Education in Karnataka
  4.10.1: Ancient and Medieval
  4.10.2: During British Period
  4.10.3: After Independence
4.11: Higher Education in Bijapur District
  4.11.1: Ancient
  4.11.2: Medieval
  4.11.3: During British Period
  4.11.4: After Independence
4.12: Profile Surveyed Colleges
  4.12.1: General Information
  4.12.2: Profile of Private Aided Colleges
  4.12.3: Profile of Private Unaided Colleges
  4.12.4: Profile of Private Government Colleges
4.13: Conclusion
Chapter: V

DEVELOPING MULTIFACETED PROFILE OF RESPONDENTS

5.1: Introduction

5.2: Personal Profile of the Respondents
   5.2.1: Type of Sex
   5.2.2: Age
   5.2.3: Marital Status
   5.2.4: Community, Caste and Category
   5.2.5: Educational Qualification of the Respondents
   5.2.6: Ancestral Education
   5.2.7: Respondents’ Responsibility toward their Children’s Education
   5.2.8: Use of IT Technology among the Respondents
   5.2.9: Reading Habit among the Respondents

5.3: Social Profile of the Respondents
   5.3.1: Type of Family
   5.3.2: Dependents on Respondents
   5.3.3: Parental Occupation
   5.3.4: Membership of the Respondents in Different Organizations

5.4: Economic Profile of the Respondents
   5.4.1: Personal Income
   5.4.2: Family Income
   5.4.3: Supplementary Income
   5.4.4: Borrowing and Saving Habits among the Respondents
   5.4.5: Ownership of Fixed Assets
   5.4.6: Ownership of Monetary Assets

5.5: Conclusion
Chapter: VI

INTERGENERATIONAL EDUCATIONAL AND OCCUPATIONAL MOBILITY

6.1: Introduction

6.2: Meaning of Intergenerational Mobility

6.3: Educational Mobility

6.4: Occupational Mobility

6.5: Economic Significance of Occupational Mobility

6.6: Educational Qualification of the Respondents

6.7: Eligibility Tests

6.8: Ancestral and Offspring’s Education

6.9: Occupational Pattern of Ancestors and Offsprings

6.10: Conclusion
A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF EDUCATIONAL CAPABILITIES

Chapter: VII

7.1: Introduction
7.2: Aspiration for Research Based Higher Educational Qualification
7.3: Use of Internet by the Respondents
7.4: Respondents and Possession of E-mail ID
7.5: Awareness about Educational Programmes on TV/Radios
7.6: Respondents’ Participation in Extra Curricular Activities
7.7: Membership in Different Organizations
7.8: Professional Development: Attending Training Programmes
7.9: Problems Faced by Respondents in their Student Life
7.10: Religion and Gender Disparity
7.11: Major Factors Responsible for Gender Disparity
7.12: Conclusions
Chapter: VIII

A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF EMPLOYMENT DELINEATION

8.1: Introduction
8.2: Respondents by Designation
8.3: Teachers by the Type of Institution and Nature of Appointment
8.4: Entry into Profession
8.5: Promotion
8.6: Updating Knowledge
8.7: Impact of Gender on Employment Opportunity
8.8: Marriage an Obstacle for Professional Commitment and Achievement
8.9: Job Satisfaction
8.10: Freedom to Quit the Job
8.11: Conclusions
Chapter: IX

A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF INCOME POTENTIALITIES

9.1: Introduction
9.2: Annual Salary Income
9.3: Type of Family and Dependents
9.4: Total Annual Family Income
9.5: Additional Income Apart from Salary
9.6: Gender and Pursuing Additional Job
9.7: Control over Earning of Teachers
9.8: Trend of Saving
9.9: Investment Patter
9.10: Borrowing of Money
9.11: Prioritizing of Expenditure
9.12: Ownership on Different Items
9.13: Spending on Reading Materials
9.14: Economic Class and Gender Disparity
9.15: Conclusions
Chapter: X

FINDINGS, SUGGESTIONS AND CONCLUSIONS

10.1: Introduction
10.2: Findings
   10.2.1: From Teachers’ Point of View
   10.2.2: From Head of the Institutions’ Point of view
10.3: Suggestions
10.4: Conclusion