ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This work would not have been possible without the help of many people, to whom I shall remain indebted. I express my gratitude especially to the following:

My guide, Dr. Cheriyan Alexander, whose constant encouragement and support steered me through some very difficult phases in my research.

St. Joseph’s college, and Seshadripuram Degree College, for allowing me to use their library facilities.

My precious mentor Prof. Vimala Rama Rao, Chairman, Department of English, Bangalore University, who first opened up the world of Central Asia to me, and who always made time for me in the midst of her own tightly-packed schedule.

My dear friends Sri C.N. Ajit and Dr. Sharada Ajit, for their unstinting support and encouragement, in making my work in the National Library (Kolkata) possible.

National Library, Kolkata, where I found not less than eight of my primary sources, which have long been out of print.
Dr. Anita Sen Gupta, Research Fellow, Maulana Azad Institute of Central Asian Studies, for her inestimable advice, and Smt. Godhuli for allowing me to savour the richness of the library’s resources.

The Institute of World Culture, Wadia Road, Bangalore, and Indian Council for Historical Research, Palace Road, Bangalore, where I located a few rare books pertaining to my research.

Sri Agraahara Krishnamurthy, Regional Director, Sahitya Akademi, Bangalore, for graciously procuring books that formed the basis of my background reading.

I shall remain especially indebted to Prof. S. Ramaswamy, without whose blessings this work would not have been possible, and to Sri S. Ramakrishna, who patiently grappled with the daunting task of typing the thesis.

I thank my colleagues Mrs. Beena G. (Dept. of English, Seshadripuram Degree College) and Mrs. Parimala Guruprasad (HOD, Psychology, Seshadripuram Degree College) for their sympathetic support and sense of humour.
