ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

. . . TO THE RESPECTED ONES:

It is with a deep sense of pleasure that I use this opportunity to express my gratitude to many helping hands that made this study possible.

I am extremely grateful to Dr. M. Ramanathan, the Vice-Chancellor of Annamalai University for giving me the opportunity to join in Ph.D programme.

I owe my special thanks to Dr. M. Rathinasabapathy, Registrar, Annamalai University for his support to carry out the study.

I am extremely thankful to Dr. N. Chidambram, Dean, the Faculty of Medicine, Annamalai University for his guidance and encouragement to do the study. I owe my gratitude to Dr. Viswanathan, the Medical Superintendent, Annamalai University for the support to carry out the study.

I articulate my sincere gratitude to Dr. R. Meenakshi Sundram, the Controller of Examination, Annamalai University for the constant support and guidance to carry out the study.

I am immensely grateful to Dr. Vijayalakshmi Ethirajan, Professor, Principal, Rani Meyyammai College of Nursing, Annamalai University, and my research guide for her valuable suggestion incisive criticism, unreserved guidance, which has helped in the shaping of this study. I owe a debt to her that can never be repaid. It is the debt that an artifact owes to the artisan. If this work has captured at least a spark from her fire that would be my reward.
I owe my deepest gratitude to Dr. V. Govindaraj, Medical Superintendent of IGGMC&RI and Head of the Department of Medicine who has been a role model and research co-guid. Through his intensive motivation and valuable suggestions, helped me to bring out the work in full.

I am grateful to Dr. N. Ethirajan, HOD of preventive medicine R.M.M.C.H. Annamalai University for his support by refining and providing words of wisdom and points of ponder to do the study.

I articulate my sincere thanks to Mr. John William Felix, Reader in Statistics- RMMC, Annamalai University for his expert guidance in analyzing and interpreting the data in a meaningful way.

I convey my earnest thanks to Dr. S. Kalavathy Prof. & HOD of OG nursing for her keen interest and suggestions, Ms.S.Jeyalakshmi, Reader in nursing for her constant and unreserved help.

I convey my sincere thanks to Ms. Gnanasangari Junior Assistant Rani Meyyammai College of Nursing who helped me with smiling face in all the ways for the completion of the work.

I convey my thanks to other members of the faculty of Rani Meyyammai college of Nursing for the help that they have rendered.

It is an honour for me to dedicate this work to my father Mr.C.Rathinasabapathy who brought me to the world of knowledge and my inspiration, Ms. InduEthirajan ever smiling and very much eager to know the result of my work.

I wish to express my deepest gratitude, to Mr. C.Kumaravel, T.V. Soupramaniane and their team for the guidance, boundless care and literally helped in all the ways to shape up the work completion.
I would like to show my gratitude to Dr. Mr. Ravi, Assistant Professor Head of the Department of English, Periyar Government Arts College, and Dr. G. Rajasekaran Head of the Department English, District Institute of Education and Training for the timely help in editing my work.

I would like to thank the Education Department Government of Puducherry for rendering permission to conduct the study. I would like to place on record my deep sense of gratitude to the Principals and teachers of the Government and private schools for granting me the permission to conduct the study. My heartfelt thanks to all the enthusiastic students, the subjects and their parents and the school teachers for their cooperation in the completion of this work and making it all the more meaningful.

I owe my special thanks to Ms. R. Ambiga, my sister for being an angel in the storm, for her optimistic support, and the timely guidance.

I am immensely grateful and indebted to V. Devi Vaishnavi my daughter, for her sweet motivating word.

I owe my deep and profound gratitude to Mr. R. Nagarajalu, Mr. R. Thiruganam, and Mr V. Varadarasu, my brothers for the extended help to complete the study.

I am obliged to Dr. Surdaramurugan and Mr. Jeevanandam, for their translation and remarkable suggestions, on editing the tool in Tamil.

I owe my special heartfelt thanks to Mr. Vijabaskar, VTECH computer and Annai Matha Offset Press for the timely help to shape up the work.

I owe my special thanks to all those who helped me behind the screen for the accomplishment of my work.
Lastly, my heartfelt thanks to my family who cheered every inch of my progress I made. They acted as sounding boards, editors, and censors and lent me a hand when I needed and shared readily the frustrations and tensions that seem to be the lot of every researcher. To them and to several others who prefer to be anonymous I am greatly indebted.

I extend a special word of appreciation and thank to M/s Vinayaga Computers, Annamalainagar, Chidambaram for their sincere effort in typing the manuscript with much valued computer skills.

I submit my humble address to the Lord, the Almighty for being my guiding spirit in making the austere dream into reality.

Baby Rathinasabapathy