ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the outset, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my research guides Dr. Munirajappa, Professor, Department of Sericulture, Bangalore University, Bangalore and Dr. K.G. Gayathri Devi, Associate Professor in Sociology, Decentralisation and Development Unit, Institute for Social and Economic Change, Nagarabhavi, Bangalore for their valuable guidance, constant supervision and benevolent encouragement throughout the course of my study.

I am happy to extend my sincere thanks to Prof. R.G. Desai, Director, Centre for Rural Development Studies (CRDS), Bangalore University, Bangalore for providing facilities and encouragement during the study.

I am also thankful to Prof. D.T. Nanje Gowda, former Director, CRDS, Bangalore University, Bangalore for his support. I particularly thank Prof. Govindaiah, Chairman, Dept., of Sericulture, Bangalore University, Bangalore for his kind suggestions in enriching the study.

I owe a deep sense of gratitude to Dr. N. Rangaswamy, Professor, Dept. of Economics and Dr. T.H. Murthy, Lecturer, CRDS, Bangalore University, Bangalore for their support.

Professor M.M. Kalburgi, Ex Vice-Chancellor and Dr. K.V. Narayana, Registrar, Kannada University, Hampi have extended all cooperation and support to me during this study. My colleagues Dr. Chandra Poojari, Dr. T.R. Chandrashekar, Mr. A. Sridhar, Dr. H.D. Prashanth, Department of Development Studies, Kannada University, Hampi, have provided a lot of encouragement during the course of this work. I am thankful to them.

I am indebted to the moral support and assistance offered by Mr. M.P. Sriranganath, Information Department, Bellary, and the encouragement given by Dr. Kiran Prasad, Mr. Prasad Mathew, Dr. A.C. Manjula and Sri. K.P. Puttaswamy. I am grateful to them.

Sri V.S. Parthasarathy has patiently gone through the drafts and offered excellent editorial help. Sri G.C. Satish has extended computer assistance all through my Ph.D. career. I am grateful to both of them for their help and for making corrections many times without losing patience. My grateful thanks to Dr. K.J. Parameshwarappa for helping me with statistical analysis and to his wife Mrs. G.C. Sujatha for her assistance in typing the manuscript, besides hospitality.

My sincere thanks are due to Mr. Sandeep Basti and others at Swathi Enterprises, who have enabled computerization and have extended generous time and taken all inconvenience with a smile.

Professor D. Rajasekhar of the DD Unit at ISEC was kind enough to extend several facilities to me. I am grateful to him. I am grateful to Professor G. K.Karanth and Dr. V Ramaswamy of the Sociology Unit, for guidance and other support.

Sri. S. Venkatarayana, Smt. Gangamma, Senthil Vodio and Chandramma. Ms. T.K. Jyothi, and Mr. B. Krishna Murthy, fellow research scholars, Bangalore University, Bangalore, were always helpful to me. I sincerely thank them.

Let me also thank Sri. B. Krishnegowda, Ms. R. Manjula and Mrs. G. Madhavi Latha of Decentralization and Development Unit, ISEC, for their kind help and support. Mrs. B. Akila and Sri. M Lingaraju were helpful to me in computer work and preparation of maps respectively. I am thankful to them.

I must express my deep sense of gratitude to Smt. B. Gangambike, Principal, Government P.U. College, Peenya, Bangalore.
I owe my gratitude to Sri H.S.C. Bapure, for all moral support and urging me to complete the work soon. I also thank Ms. Kusuma Bapure for the affection bestowed on me.

I am thankful to the staff members of the Department of Sericulture, Bangalore University, Bangalore and staff members of the libraries of ISEC and Bangalore University for their help in various capacities.

I owe a special gratitude to Dr. Tejavathi, Warden, Ladies Hostel, Jnana Bharathi, Bangalore University, Bangalore for providing facilities.

I acknowledge here the kindness of all the officials of the Department of Sericulture, Government of Karnataka & CSB. The respondents in the field patiently discussed with me and provided the required information, without which this study would not have materialized. I am extremely grateful to them.
