BIBLIOGRAPHY

Awasthi Arvind (2007) “Production and Invest Credit of scheduled commercial Banks in India Need for a systematic approach” Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics, 62, No, 3 July–Sept

Bansal, V; Mahta, V.P and Suhag, K.S (2002) “Performance analysis of primary agricultural co-operative credit societies in Haryana and Punjab” Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics, 57(3);569.

Bhaskaran, R (2008) “Beyond waivers: need to redesign the bank loans and offer effective hedge products” Indian-Journal of Agricultural Economics 63(2) 159-168.

Chaudhray, R.L; Makhiza, V.K; Laherea, S.N and Singh, S (2001) “Problem in crop loan utilization and repayment behavior” Agricultural Banker, 25 (1); 33-37

Deorukhakar, A. C; Talathi, J and M; Patil, H.K (2005) “Impact of institutional finance on costs, returns and profitability on farmer’s economy in North Konkan Region of Maharashtra” Indian Journal of Agriculture Economics; 60(3) 406

Gupta, A.K; Rao, V.K and Singh, J (1998) “Study on co-operative credit as on aid to increase agricultural production” Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics, 22 (2):367

Harpreet Singh; M.K Sekhon (2005) “Cash in benefits of the Kisan Credit Card scheme: Onus is Upon the farmer” Indian Journal Agriculture Economics; 60, No,3: July-Sept. 320-331.

Kaur, H; Toor, M.S and Sain I. (2002) “Agricultural credit and participation of various credit agencies in Punjab stage” Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics, 57 (3); 567-577

Krishna, and Chowdry, K.R (2005) “An empirical study of repayment of agricultural loans” Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics, 60 (3); 401

Kumar Anjani and Singh K Dhiraj and Kumar Praphat (2007) “Performance of rural credit and factors affecting the choice of credit sources” Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics, 62 No, 3 July-Sept

Noor Jhan; Mohsin ud Din Muhammad (2008) “Raising farm productivity through agricultural credit (a case study of Zarai Tarraqiati Bank of Pakistan Limited)” Sarhad-Journal-of-Agriculture. 24(4) 693-696.

Sanjay Kumar (2005); “Problems of overdues in the Tribal area of Jharkhand” Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics, 60 (3) 358

Vaikunthe, L. D (2005) “Institutional credit to agriculture” A case study of district Central Co-operative Bank in Shimoga district in Karnataka; Indian Journal.Agriculture Economics;60 (3); 405.

Wilson, C.A; Featherstone, A,M; Kastens, T,L; Jones, J,D (2006) “ Determining what's really important to lenders: factors affecting the agricultural loan decision-making process” (06-07) 71