Words are often too less to reveal one’s deep regards. The writing of this dissertation has been one of the most significant academic challenges I have ever faced and many people contributed to this dissertation in innumerable ways, and without their patience, support and guidance this study would not have been completed and I take this opportunity to express my profound sense of gratitude to all of them.

First and foremost, I offer my sincerest gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Benrithung Murry who has supported me throughout my thesis with his patience and knowledge and I am grateful for his immense contributions of time and ideas which made my Ph.D. experience productive and stimulating.

I am deeply grateful to my Advisory committee members Professor M.P. Sachdeva and Dr. K.N. Sarawathy for their detailed and constructive comments, and for their important support throughout my work.

I would like to thank Prof.S.L.Malik, Head of Department and Prof. P.K. Ghosh, former Head of Department for their necessary help during this work.

I would like to give credit to all the Santhal women and household respondents of Jharkhand who spent their valuable time and responded to the lengthy schedules with immense patience.

I cannot find words to express my gratitude to Dr. Shubhra Dwivedy, Chief Executive of Socio Economic and Education Development Society (SEEDS), Jamshedpur, Jharkhand for guiding me throughout my fieldwork and giving me an opportunity to utilize as many resources needed for my work. Without her help it would have been difficult for me carry out my fieldwork.

It is with immense gratitude that I acknowledge the support and help of Mr. Mansa Tuddu, key informant (Village Mahtabeda), Ms. Putni Mardi, Mr. Viram Murmu, Mr. Buddheshwar Mahato and Mr. Jagbandhu Shand. It is because of the hard work and sincerity of these people that I smoothly overcame the hurdles that came during my fieldwork.
In my daily work I have been blessed with a friendly and cheerful group of fellow students without whose support this work would not have been completed successfully.

I would like to acknowledge the financial, academic and administrative support of the Department of Anthropology.

Lastly, I would like to thank my family for all their love and encouragement. For my parents who raised me with love and supported me in all my pursuits and for their faith in me and allowing me to be as ambitious as I wanted. It was under their watchful eye that I gained so much drive and an ability to tackle challenges head on. Without their encouragement and understanding it would have been impossible for me to finish this work.

I would thank all and my apologies to those whose names could not be mentioned individually.

June 2012

Amrita Roy
Department of Anthropology
University of Delhi
Delhi