Acknowledgement

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude towards all those who have, in various ways, helped me in the completion of this study.

Any work is practically impossible without motivation and guidance. Hence, I would like to thank my guide Prof. V.K Kaul, Department of Business Economics, South Campus, Delhi University who had been instrumental in assigning me this project and showed great trust in me. His encouragement helped me sail through the toughest times and lead me to the end of the tunnel.

This study could not have been completed without the guidance of my supervisor, Dr. Aradhna Aggarwal, Department of Business Economics, South Campus, Delhi University. I am deeply indebted to her for continuous support. Mere words would not suffice for the amount of patience and tolerance she has shown. She has devoted her time and energy to help with the comprehensive study and shared her thoughts at each and every stage of the analysis. She has always challenged me to excel and never accepted lesser than my best efforts.

I owe my sincere to the entire faculty and staff members of the Department of Business Economics, South Campus, Delhi University, without the inspiration of whom it would have been difficult to complete the work. I am grateful for their help, support, interest and valuable hints.

I also take this opportunity to thank Dr. Girish Nagpal, officer Agriculture Department, ministry of agriculture, Haryana who has imparted his insight into my study. He has helped me with his vast experience in collecting data from major cotton producing states in northern zone across the country.
Especially, I am obliged to my husband who looked closely at the final version of my thesis for English style and grammar, correcting both and offering suggestions for the improvement.

I would also like to acknowledge the motivation and encouragement provided by my family members specially, my father-in law and my father who helped me in their own way during the course of study.

Last but not the least I would like to thank my son and daughter for understanding and cooperating with me at all the times.

This research was a great source of learning and value addition to me and I duly thank all the people who have supported me in this effort.

Bhavneet Kaur

Ph.D. student,

Department of Business Economics,

South campus,

Delhi University