REFERENCES

Allport, G.W. & Vernon, PE (1931). A Study of Values, A scale for Measuring Dominant Interest, Houghton Mifflin, Boston, MA.

Asch, M. (2008), Dictionary of Psychology, Published by Prabhat Kumar Sharma for Sarup & Sons, KS Paperbacks, New Delhi

References

Bergson H (1954). The two sources of morality and religion.

References

Clarken (2009), Moral Intelligence in the Schools, annual meeting of the Michigan Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters, Wayne State University, Detroit.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Reference</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

References

John Stuart Mill, (1822) Two Letters on the Measure of Value.

National Crimes Record Bureau [NCRB] (2012). Govt. of India. [www.ncrb.nic.in]

References

Sijtsma, K. (2009). On the use, the misuse, and the very limited usefulness of Cronbach’s α. Psychometrika, 74, 107-120.

Zinbarg, R., Revelle, W., Yovel, I., & Li, W. (2005). Cronbach’s α, Revelle’s β, and McDonald’s ω: Their relations with each other and two alternative conceptualizations of reliability. Psychometrika, 70, 123-133.
