ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

As I am compiling the thesis work, I am passing through great difficulties to express gratefulness to my colleagues, friends, and mentors. Large number of people have extended their helping hand and contributed in some way or other during this work, and to be-able to acknowledge them satisfactorily is beyond my writing capabilities. Here is a frail attempt to express my gratefulness to them.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my supervisor Prof. A. K. Das, Department of Ecology and Environmental Sciences, Assam University, Silchar, Assam for suggesting the problem, offering his invaluable guidance and constant encouragement throughout the course of this study.

I express my deep sense of indebtedness to my Co-supervisor Dr. R. C. Sundriyal, Scientist-F, Core Head SDRE, G.B. Pant Institute of Himalayan Environment and Development and who was also the Scientist Incharge of the N.E. Unit of the Institute during most part of the thesis work for his continuous support, encouragement and precious guidance in the field as well as laboratory works. Infact, it is his inexorable effort and surge that this thesis could be done in a timely fashion.

I also convey my regards to Dr. L.M.S Palni and Dr. U. Dhar, present and previous Director, G. B. Pant Institute of Himalayan Environment and Development for their great concern and encouragement, and for providing me all facilities as well as valuable suggestions during the course of the study.

My deep sense of regards to Profs. B. K. Dutta, A. Gupta, Drs. Dhrupad Chaudhry, D. C. Ray, J. Rout, S. Gupta, S. C. Garkoti for suggesting the problem and offering invaluable guidance and help to me during the period of MSc as well as the present research work.

I wish to thank the then Dr. S. N. Hegde, Ex-Director, SFRI, allowing me to use the Forest Nursery in Bomdila for doing the experimental work. I would like to extend my special thanks to Mr. Pem Rinzen and Mr. Raju Tamang, who are my friends and assisted me during the entire span of four years of my field work. Their ability to identify the traditional useful plants with folk tales and moving in the hilly tracks helped me lot working in the harse conditions of my study site. Financial assistance received from UNESCO Mac. Arthur Foundation for the present research work is highly acknowledged.

I would like to extend my deepest sense of regards and love to my parents Late Srimati Radharani Saha and Sri Mihir Kumar Saha. Humble regards to uncle Sri S.R. Saha, who has always encouraged me in various ways. I am also grateful to Mr. D.K. Das and Mrs. K. Das for their parental affection during my stay at Itanagar. I am beholden to my brothers and sisters for their constant encouragement.

Last but not least, I am very much thankful to the people of West Kameng district for their firsthand support and help in every steps during my field works.
