PREFACE

This successful completion of this work has been made possible by the financial assistance and sustained support rendered by the University Grants Commission in the form of Teacher Fellowship Grant under the Faculty Improvement Programme.

No words can express adequately my indebtedness to Dr. P.K. Sundaram, Professor, the Dr. S. Radhakrishnan Institute for Advanced Study in Philosophy, University of Madras, for his advice, guidance and the constant stimulus of his scholarly example to carry out the research work. He has channelised and shaped this thesis and but for his unstinted guidance this thesis would not have seen the light of the day. My grateful thanks are due in large measure to Dr. R. Balasubramaniam, Director, the Dr. S. Radhakrishnan Institute for Advanced Study in Philosophy, University of Madras, for providing me with every facility necessary to carry out my research work.

In gratitude I record my thanks to Dr. T. Prabhaker Reddy, Professor and Head of the Department of English, University of Madras, for his valuable guidance and suggestions as a co-guide for this research work. In the midst of his busy schedule he has been patient all through in clearing my doubts and spared no trouble in enabling me to complete this research work. I thank sincerely Dr. M.C. Nagarajan, Reader, Department of English, University of Madras, for his kind help in lending me books besides giving me suggestions to plan and execute this project.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. Arthur Habscher, Schopenhauer Gesellschaft e.v. President, Frankfurt, West Germany for sending me valuable list of latest criticism on Schopenhauer. I also gratefully acknowledge the wise counsel given by Dr. Herbert Herring, Bergheimer Weg, West Germany, during the preparation of this thesis.

I am thankful to the authorities at the American Studies Research Centre, Hyderabad, for providing me the study materials required for this thesis as best as they could.

My special thanks go to Dr. Abdul Kowell, Librarian, Dr. S. Radhakrishnan Institute for Advanced Study in Philosophy, for providing me books I needed without any delay. His suggestions regarding the availability of books on the topic of my research at other places have been very useful for my thesis.

I record in gratitude my indebtedness to the former President of J. J. College Trust Board, Mr. T.K. Lingaram and Prof. C. Ghose Behera and the former Principal, Dr. S.P. Shankarachary and the present Principal, Prof. T.K. Ramachandran, Pachaiyappa's College, Madras, but for whose magnanimous gestures and encouragement, this research work would have remained a dream.

I thank Prof. G. Subbian, Head of the Department of English, Pachaiyappa's College, Madras, for the thought provoking conversations I had with him on the subject of this research work. I thank my colleague Professor K.K. Kandaswami Sah for going through this thesis at the final stage. My thanks are also due to Mr. John Allen Cranes for his intellectual companionship during this research. I thank every one of my colleagues for their encouragement all through this project. I thank my friend and colleague Prof. G. Chandramohan for helping me in whatever manner he could. I thank Mr. D. Sujumar and Mrs. D. Ramani,
