ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I deem it a great honour in doing research work in the Department of Economics, University of Madras and I must thank the University for having permitted me to do the Ph.D Degree Course in the University.

I am very much thankful to the President, the Correspondent, the Secretary and Members of the Management Committee and the Principal, SIVET College, Gowrivakkam, Chennai - 601 302 for having given me permission to do part time Ph.D. in the University of Madras.

I will be failing in my duty if I do not pay my sincere gratitude to my beloved and esteemed guide Dr.R.Arunachalam, Professor of Economics, University of Madras who guided me in this Herculean Task, unmindful of the difficulties caused, though inadvertently. He was very patient and and motivating at every stage of my work. At the same time he is a very hard task Master. But for his guidance, this thesis would not have seen the light. My thanks are due to him in no small measure.

My thanks are due to Dr.M.Naganathan, Professor and Head, Department of Economics and other members of the faculty, University of Madras for having encouraged me in all possible ways to do this Research.
Dr. Govindarajan, Professor of Statistics, Madras Christian College was of great help in completing the statistical analysis of the data and I profusely thank him for his timely assistance.

The Assistant Secretary, Madras Stock Exchange who facilitated my easy access to the balance sheets of companies was helpful. Besides, easy access to relevant documents was made available to me by Mr. Venkataraman, Librarian, Madras Stock Exchange. My thanks are also due to them.

The idea of doing this onerous task of doing research was suggested to me by my brother-in-law Mr. R. Swaminathan, B.E, Senior Manager, Project Management, ALSTOM Ltd., some years back. In fact, he was a source of inspiration and encouragement to me to complete this challenging endeavour.

Last but not the least is my friends and colleagues in various Departments of my college whose unstinted co-operation and encouragement enabled me to complete this work. The valuable suggestions given to me by Prof. V. Subramanian, Head of the Department of Economics, SIVET College were of great help to me and I am indebted to him.

Students xerox, Tambaram has executed this work very nicely conforming to research specifications. My special thanks are due to them.

Finally, I cannot forget the sacrifices of my family members who extended all their cooperation in completing this task.
