ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am indebted to Dr. S. Venkatesan, Professor of Clinical Psychology, Department of Clinical Psychology, All India Institute of Speech and Hearing, Manasagangotri, Mysore for making it possible for me to start and complete this study. Several suggestions made by him are incorporated into the thesis.

I am grateful to Professor S.K. Kiran Kumar, Chairman, Department of Studies in Psychology, and other faculty members and staff of the Department of Psychology for extending their support to complete my work at the department.

I thank my husband Behzad Pourgharib for his inexhaustible patience otherwise which the thesis would have not been possible.

I am indebted to my father, mother, sisters and brother for encouraging me to complete my thesis at the earliest.

My thanks are due to my father-in-law, mother-in-law, sisters-in-law and brothers-in-law for rendering their moral support to me to stay back in India and complete the chosen by me.

Finally, I express my gratitude to all the participants who served as subjects of my study, and to my friends for their sincere cooperation and support for completing this work.

Afsaneh Khajevand Khoshali