ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The magnitude and quantum of missing persons is ubiquitous and pululates multitudinous embryonic causative factors. This grim and frightful problem scintillates potpourri of questions to the public administrators, police investigators, sociologists, criminologists and dedicated social workers. Missing persons are 'invisible toilers and moilers'. Potentialities, abilities and talents of the human resources are exploited and liquidated by anti-social elements, bad characters and criminals. Their 'free choice' is transformed into servitude and servitude. When missing persons become a victim of heinous crimes, the unidentified dead bodies have no tales to tell. This human loss is unsurmountable, unquantifiable, irreducible and irreplaceable. Unimaginable number of missing persons are lost for ever; no trace of indelible marks. As per police records, they are untraced. This spine-chilling pathetic state of affairs stimulated for an in-depth study and research to find out as to why the MPS of Delhi Police Administration is not able to trace these missing persons and work out the cases of unidentified dead bodies ended in grimsome murder. It is at this juncture 'An analytical study of Missing Person Squad of Delhi Police Administration' had been carried out. This idea was sowed by Revered, late Dr.
K.S. Shukla, Professor of Criminal Justice Administration, of I.I.F.A., New Delhi which was nurtured by the erudite scholar, Dr. R.K. Sapru, Chairman, Department of Public Administration, Punjabi University, Chandigarh, by showering vitaminized guidance in bountifulness to blossom it as a thesis. Dr. A.S. Raj, Director of Studies, I.C.A.I., New Delhi, has profusely showered his valuable suggestions in the infrastructural development of this research. It is gratifying to thank Dr. (Mrs.) Anima Sen, Professor of Psychology, Delhi University, who ignited the psychological glimpses. I owe a great deal of indebtedness to Shri S. M. Avte. IPS, Deputy Commissioner of Police (CID), Bombay, Director, Social Welfare Department, Delhi Administration and to all the Police Officers and men of Delhi Police Administration for having extended their kind and sincere cooperation. My personal staff, ASis Gajraj and Vijay. SI Niranjan, Lady Cts Seema and Veena have rendered immense assistance while I was burning the mid-night oil. My Sr. P.A. SI Surender Ahuja, has rendered tremendous quantum of work in typing out the manuscripts many a times. ASI Sunish Sharma and Ct B. Ravindran have put-in extremely hard labour in bringing out the computerised copies in a neat and presentable form. My sincere thanks are due to the Librarians of American Library, UNICEF, Bureau of Police Research and Development, IIPA, Delhi University, Delhi Public Library and Delhi Police Library. My father Shri A. Mohan Raj, my wife Smt. Rani Ponnaian and my children have been instrumental in all my ventures for a glorious futuristic march. My sincere thanks are also due to those who might still remain unacknowledged.
