Acknowledgement

I acknowledge my indebtedness to my learned supervisor Dr. S.L. Malhotra, Head of the Department of Gandhian Studies, Panjab University, Chandigarh for having taken deep interest in my work. It is primarily due to his inspiration, guidance and help that I have been able to complete this research project. Dr. Malhotra is a rare blend of scholarship and simplicity and my frank discussions with him have been highly rewarding and stimulating.

I am deeply beholden to my learned supervisor Dr. D.R. Sharma, Reader in English, Panjab University Chandigarh for his valued guidance and affectionate interest evinced in my study. Dr. Sharma combines in himself vast erudition, brilliance of intellect and deep literary insight. He is precise and pointed in his comments and his enthusiasm is simply contagious. It is Dr. Sharma who sharpened my perspective and provided precise guidelines for me to follow. I must confess with a sense of Gandhian truthfulness that Dr. Sharma represents a genuine scholar in his sharp, precise and steady pursuit of literature and a traditional Indian Guru in his warm-hearted generosity and hospitality.

I must thank Dr. Jagdish Chandra, Professor and Chairman, Department of English, Panjab University, Chandigarh for his kind patronage and encouragement. My beloved teacher Dr. R.L. Ahuja, retired Principal, has always been a source of inspiration to me. My sincerest thanks are due to him.
My sincere thanks are also due to the following librarians and their staff:

(1) Dr. J.S. Sharma, Librarian Panjab University Chandigarh.

(2) Shri S.P. Goyal, Reference Librarian, Haryana Agricultural University, Hisar.

(3) Shri K.S. Dalal, Librarian, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra.

(4) Librarian, Bombay University, Bombay.

(5) Librarian, American Library, New Delhi.

(6) Librarian, Moti Lal Nehru Library, Amritsar.

(7) Shri Shiva N. Malik, Librarian, C.R.M.Jat College Hisar.

I place on record my gratitude to the scholars whose works deepened my insight into the subject. Shri Ghanshyam, who typed the manuscript with a sense of involvement and personal commitment has earned my deep gratitude. My thanks are also due to Shri Lalit Jain for his help and Shri P.S. Dhillon for his labour of love.
