ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express my deep feeling of gratitude and heartfelt thanks to Dr. K. Nanje Gowda, M.Com, Ed., Ph.D., Professor of Commerce, Department of Studies in Commerce, Manasagangothri, Mysore, under whose supervision and guidance, I could complete this thesis work. He spent considerable time with me in sharpening my thinking and analysis and in the presentation of the material. I have found in him a constant source of inspiration for academic pursuits and I owe to him more than what I can express.

In the presentation of this thesis work, I have been immensely benefitted by the invaluable advice and help of my teacher, Dr. K.V. Prabhakar, M.Com, Ph.D., Professor and Head, Department of Commerce, Gulbarga University, Gulbarga. I express my deep sense of gratitude to him for all that he did in the completion of this work without any inhibitions and for having the immense patience to sit with us for discussion amidst his busy schedule.

I would like to place on record of my sincere regards to Prof. M. Madaiah, Vice-Chancellor, University of Mysore, for having been a perennial source of inspiration for academicians and researchers and also for having taken up the indomitable challenge of resurrecting academic excellence.

I am indebted to the University Grants Commission, New Delhi, for having provided me the Teacher Fellowship under Faculty Improvement Programme, to carry out this research work. I am also grateful to the Director of Collegiate Education in Karnataka for having deputed me to take up this work and to the University of Mysore for having provided me the opportunity to undertake this work.

I am highly indebted to the help and encouragement received in collecting information from Librarians and their Staff of University of Mysore (Mysore), Institute of Social and Economic Change (Bangalore), Indian Institute of Management (Bangalore), University of Agricultural Sciences (Bangalore), Osmania University (Hyderabad), Andhra Pradesh Agricultural University (Hyderabad), Marathwada Agricultural University (Parbhani), and Indian Agricultural Research Institute, New Delhi.

My thanks are also due to Sri. S.S. Kumar, Former Principal, Government First Grade College, Hunsur, who played a key role in deputing me to take up this work under Teacher Fellowship. I also thank my colleagues, Sri T. Venkata Setty, Sri. K.N. Puttaraju and Dr. Ranganath and other members of the staff of my college for their sincere cooperation.

I also thank Dr. Raju and Dr. Vishnu Hebbar, Department of Studies in Statistics, University of Mysore, Mysore, for having rendered their valuable suggestions in applying the statistical tools.

I am grateful to Prof. M.R. Suryanarayana Murthy, M.Com., Ph.D., Chairman, Department of Studies in Commerce, Manasagangotri, Mysore-6 and the earlier Chairmen for having provided the infrastructure facilities in carrying out this research work. I also express my thanks to other members of the staff, Department of Studies in Commerce, Manasagangothri, Mysore, for having encouraged me in carrying out this study.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my elder sister, Smt. Sowbhagya and my brother-in-law, Sri. Ramachandraiah, for having encouraged me, not only in carrying out this work but also in my educational career.

I will be failing in my duty if I do not thank Mr. M. Praveen Kumar of Softouch Documentation and his assistants, Kum. Roopa, Kum. Poornima, Kum. Sheela and Mr. Govindaraj for having carefully and neatly typed out the manuscript.

I am grateful to my wife Smt. Vasundara, who contributed to the completion of this study by shouldering all the domestic worries on herself. My son Kaushal and daughter Sindhoor, cooperated with me by bearing my separation during the period of my study and completion of this work.

Finally, I thank all those who have helped me directly or indirectly in completing this work.

V. CHANDRA SENA