I owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. R.G. Geetha Devi, Scientist-E, Central Sericultural Research & Training Institute, Mysore who has been a source of inspiration in my research career and has encouraged and guided me throughout the study. It is impossible to express adequately my heartfelt gratitude to my guide for her constant encouragement, able guidance, invaluable suggestions and advise at all times in preparation of this thesis.

I am thankful to Dr. C.K.Kamble, Director, CSR & TI, Mysore who has been kind enough to instill confidence in me for timely completion of this work. I am to put it in record my immense thanks to him.

My thanks are due to Dr. S.B. Dandin, former Director, CSR & TI, Mysore who has given permission to carry out the work. His continuous encouragement, keen interest and administrative support time to time enabled me to complete this work in time. I am highly indebted to Dr. R.K. Rajan, Joint Director RSRS, Salem and Dr. N.B. Vijaya Prakash, Scientist -E, Training Division for their support rendered in different stages of my work.

I also express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Y.Srinivasa Reddy, Professor (Retd.) and Dr. G. Subramanya, Professor, Department of studies in Sericulture, University of Mysore for their help during course of work.

I profoundly thank Dr. G. Srinivasa, Dr. S. Lakshmanan and Sri. P. Kumareshan scientists of this institute for sparing their valuable time, critically going through the manuscript and offering constructive suggestions from time to time.

I am very much grateful to Dr. M. K. Sethu Rao, Professor Emeritus, Agriculture Extension for giving an expert touch, guidance and cooperation during the study.
I take this opportunity to profusely thank Dr. M.T. Himantharaj, Dr. V.K. Rahamathulla, Dr. Jalaja S. Kumar, Dr. V.P. Gupta, Dr. Mohan Ram Rao, Dr. Sudhakar Rao, Smt. K.M. Vijaya Kumari and Smt. K. Jhansilakshmi, scientists of this institute for their co-operation during study and offering all possible help in preparation of this thesis.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Mr. K.R. Ganesh, TA, SSC, Nanjungud, for his kind help and cooperation during data collection.

I may be failing in my duties if due gratitude is not expressed to Sri. Ramegowda, Ms. S. Premalatha, Sri. Boriah, Smt. Nagashree, Smt. Hemavathi, Sri. Umapathi and Sri. Devaraj technical staff of training division for their help in various ways. Special thanks are due to Smt. Jayammal and Smt. M.S. Rekha for their excellent co-operation and help in typing the manuscript of this thesis.

At this moment, I cannot forget the help rendered by Mrs. Sandhya, Library & Information Officer who spent her valuable time in providing literature required for the thesis and her constant encouragement.

The help rendered by Prof. S.R. Ananthanarayan, Bangalore University is gratefully acknowledged.

Last but not the least, it is my privilege to express my sincere thanks to my husband Sri. N. Ragavendra Murthy and children Ramya, Ravi and Sahana for their constant support for the successful completion of this study.

Finally, I put it on record that I am thankful to all my colleagues, friends and well wishers who have helped me directly or indirectly during the course of my study.

(G. S. VINDHYA)