Human Rights in India seem to be smitten today by several factors leading to continued instability and insecurity in mind of people. These aspects are consistently and unfortunately leading to violation of human rights in Kashmir in particular and Jammu and Kashmir in general. No doubt this rigmarole of terrorism is a global phenomenon now. Despite this there are certain very special features of this threat to human dignity and rights.

May be it is for this reason that Kashmir problem is having both external and internal aspects effecting both observance and protection of human rights in Kashmir.

It is the aforesaid prospective that the present research has been taken up for doctoral exploration. Despite all best efforts on the part of the researcher, she alone will be responsible for human follies that may be found in the thesis.
