ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the very outset, I express my gratefulness to the Vice-Chancellor of the Assam University who, not only gave me the opportunity to do research work but also provided me a platform to systematically study the various aspects of a small linguistic minority group, the Bishnupriya Manipuris, who live in North East India and to acquaint people at large about their existence. I also express my gratefulness to Prof. Tanmay Bhattacharjee, the supervisor of my research work for his sincere guidance and close co-operation during my study. I am grateful to Prof. Gopalji Mishra, Dean of The School of Social Sciences of Assam University, Prof. Keya Sengupta, former Dean of The School of Social Sciences of Assam University, Prof. R.R. Dhamala, and Head of the Political Science Department, Assam University and Prof. Debashish Bhattacharjee, Political Science Department, Assam University, for their valuable suggestions and co-operation.

I express my gratitude to the Principal, R.M. College, Silchar, the Librarian of the R.M. College Library, the Gauhati University Library, the Assam University Library, Silchar, for permitting me to consult books and also for their co-operation in the work I have undertaken.

I express my gratefulness to my respected Guru, Sri Gopinath Sinha, who not only taught me in the educational institution and remained to this day, a great source of inspiration for me and instilled in me an urge to do something for the cultural survival of the community.

I also extend my gratitude to Dr. Debendra Kumar Sinha, the President of the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Mahasabha, Central Committee, Monoranjan Sinha, Ex-President, the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Mahasabha, Central Committee, Chandrakanta Sinha, the Working President, the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Mahasabha, Central Committee, Jogendra Kumar Sinha, President of the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Sanskriti Parishad, Central Committee, Birendra Sinha, Ex-President, The Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Sahitya Parishad, Central Committee, Uday Sinha, Secretary General, the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Mahasabha, Central Committee, Krishnaballo Sinha, General Secretary, the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Mahasabha, Central Committee, Mathura Sinha, Vice President, the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Sahitya Parishad, Central Committee, Borachouba Sinha, Secretary, the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Sanskriti Parishad, Central Committee, Sudhanya Sinha, General Secretary, the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Sahitya Parishad, Assam State Committee, Mangalbabu Sinha, General Secretary, the Nikhil Bishnupriya Manipuri Sahitya Parishad, Central Committee, Anita Sinha, Editor, Kakei, Anukul Sinha, Editor, Tripura Che and Sushil Sinha, Secretary, Pouri Organisation of Bangladesh.

I take the opportunity to extend my gratefulness to my compatriots, men and women in the movement for the recognition of the language and also pay my homage to those who laid down their lives for the sake of the language. I remember all of them in my humble work. I must extend my thanks to my wife, Manashi for creating a congenial atmosphere to prosecute this academic work. My octogenarian father, Sri Jitendra Kumar Sinha, who unfortunately left us recently after he lost his fight against a dreaded disease, was a constant source of inspiration for me. He, along with my mother, Ramani devi raised me up silently bearing all troubles with a fond hope that I would be able to contribute something one day for my small group of people

I also express my sincere thanks and deep sense of appreciation to the people whom I had the proud privilege to interview, but for their assistance, my work would have been a non starter. I should not forget the sacrifice made by my two sons, Pritam and Pratikshit for not minding my absence in the guidance of their studies.

Finally I thank the well known computer centre of Silchar,
S.Cube, Hailakandi Road, Silchar for extending all assistance regarding the computer typing of the thesis.

In the end, I beg to state that there might be some omissions and errors in the work which, I admit, were not committed consciously and I hope I will be excused for such discrepancies.

Place - Silchar
Date - May 12, 2008

Probhat Kumar Sinha
(Probhat Kumar Sinha)