ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am immensely grateful to Dr. G.P. Pandey, my research Supervisor, Professor in the Department of Mass Communication and Dean, Abanindranath Tagore School of Creative Arts and Communication Studies, Assam University, Silchar, without whose guidance and encouragement this present work might not have seen the light of the day.

I dedicate my genuine piece of work to my beloved mother Hasina Bibi, our ten year old daughter Rukeiya Abrar and our ten year old nephew Salman Khan because I was writing this thesis when they, one after another, left for their heavenly abode in tragic incidents in a span of hardly one month leaving us emotionally wretched. I am indebted to my mother for eternity not only because she is my mother but because of her emotional support from even her hospital bed where she was being treated for brain cancer and herself needed support. Many a time she did not allow me to cancel my field trips despite her illness which necessitated constant attendance. She really wanted to see my work accomplished. When we were undergoing emotional crisis in fighting mother’s illness a tragic incident snatched our cute nephew Salman Khan from us when he was ran over by a tipper on his way back home from the Maktab in the nearby mosque. Some days later, mother passed away leaving us drowned in the sea of sorrow and grief. We were not yet recovered from the shock of losing two most dear and near ones when ill fate again struck us in the form of death of our ten year old daughter Rukeiya Abrar in an unfortunate incident of drowning in our traditional pond. Our family was overwhelmed with this sudden turn of unexpected events which had taken three coffins from our family to graveyard in the space of hardly one month. I could not even attend our lovely daughter’s funeral as I was far-off to Silchar working hard to complete my thesis.

I owe a deep gratitude to Prof. (Dr.) Tapodhir Bhattacharjee, Vice Chancellor of Assam University, who has been virtually my ideal personality, for his generosity and considerateness shown to me as the only ray of hope to overcome the difficulties I faced during my crisis and enabled me to unite with my aggrieved family at the time of this eternal loss.

I am extremely thankful to Prof. K.V. Nagraj, Head, Department of Mass Communication, Assam University, for his constant help, invaluable advice and support. Acknowledgement is also due to Prof. A.B. Bhuiya, Dean, School of English and Foreign Languages, Assam University, Silchar, whose support and encouragement gave me the confidence to take on the daunting tasks. I am also thankful to Dr. V.P. Singh, former Associate Professor, Department of Sociology, Assam University, Silchar for his valuable suggestions made in the initial stage of my research work though his relocation somewhere else curtailed our contact. My special thanks to Readers, Charvak, and Silajit Guha, Assistant Professors, Dr. Raghavendra Misra, Alfarid Huissain, Dr. Promita Das, Ayiridhi Bhattacharjee, Aisha, Dr. Partho Das and Sanjay Paul of the Department of Mass Communication, Assam University, Silchar, Dr. Surrendra Kumar Upadhyay, Hindi Officer, Assam University, Silchar, for their words of support and encouragement. I also thank my fellow research scholars and staff members in the Department of Mass Communication, Assam University for their cooperation during my stint in the department.

And of course, my deep gratitude goes to the villagers of Andro and Moijing for their warm hospitality and very special thanks to my two guides and survey colleagues, Pishak and Mujibur. I am grateful to B.B. Sharma, Deputy Director (News), AIR Imphal, for sharing his insight into rural radio and helping me on research efforts. Besides, I thank all the personnel of AIR Imphal for providing me extensive cooperation to accomplish the study smoothly.

I thanked my sons Zeet Nawaz Thouba and Nisar Nawaz Thouba for their sacrifice in the name of my research work. The efforts endured by family members including Nasreen Khan and Rahena Sultan in every stage of the study are also dully acknowledged. Finally, I thank my father for his positive encouragement by teaching us to accept the Almighty’s decision as it comes and make efforts to complete this thesis which gave me the mental strength to accomplish what my mother desired most for me.

(Md. Nawaz Khan)
