ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my bounden duty to express my gratitude to Dr. Debasish Bhattacharjee, Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science, Assam University, for his invaluable and tireless guidance and his constructive suggestions throughout the period of my work. It was a great pleasure and opportunity for me to work under his inspiring supervision. I would always recognise the debt I owe to him.

The keyman behind this work is Dr. Sujit Chowdhury, renowned social scientist, who not only served as a constant source of inspiration but also provided valuable suggestions and guided me in variety of ways to enrich my work. I express deep sense of gratefulness to Dr. Chowdhury.

I would be failing in my duties if I do not mention the name of Dr. Santanu Dutta, my teacher and Head of the Department of Political Science, Karimganj College for providing me with materials particularly relating to Parliamentary and Assembly Politics of Assam during the period under study.

I do also acknowledge my indebtedness for the help rendered to me by the Librarian, Nehru Memorial and Museum
Library, New Delhi, Sanatan Deka of Assam Assembly Library, Naveen Haloi of Assam Historical and Antiquarian Studies, Guwahati, Director and Staff of Assam Archives, Dispur, Librarian, District Library, Guwahati. My sincere thanks are due to Assam University library staff and also to the office staff of the Department of Political Science, Assam University, Silchar.

My thanks go to Sreeman Tapas Chakrabarty who shared a great deal of burden of typing the thesis.

As usual, Arindom, my husband and Shreya, my daughter have assisted me in multiple ways to the making of my thesis and to keep my optimism alive.

To many more, whom I can not mention here, I can only offer many more thanks.
