ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the completion and production of this thesis, many people have been enormously helpful. I could not have completed my research without the assistance from several persons and institutions. I acknowledged the help and cooperation from various quarters while research was being processed. I take this opportunity to thank them. It is a pleasure to acknowledge their contributions and I am grateful to all of them.

On completion of the present study, I express my profound gratitude and indebtedness to my supervisor Prof. H. Ramananda Singh, Department of Business Administration, Assam University, Silchar for his incessant guidance and untiring support to upgrade the quality of my research work and to pursue my academic endeavours without whose active involvement and supervision the work would not be accomplished in the present shape.

Words are not adequate to express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to Prof. R.K. Raul, Dean, Jawaharlal Nehru School of Management Studies and Prof. A.L. Ghosh, Head Department of Business Administration, Assam University, Silchar, for providing support and giving me the opportunity to complete the study.

I am also thankful to Prof. A. Mazumdar, Department of Business Administration, Assam University, Silchar for providing valuable support for the development of conceptual framework of the study.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. Dibyojyoti Bhattacharjee, Associate Professor, Department of Business Administration, Assam University, Silchar; and
Mr. Hemanta Saikia, Research Scholar of the department for their constant help in statistical analysis of data.

I have the privilege to record my profound gratitude to my teacher of the department Dr. Arup Barman, Dr. Debomalya Ghose, and Dr. Nigamannada Biswas for their valuable suggestions, guidance, perpetual inspirations and openhearted feedback in various stages of my research work. I also express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Ranjit Singh, Mrs. Juthika Konwar, Mr. Amit Kumar Das, Mrs. Lurai Rongmai, Mrs. Nilanjana Chakraborty, Mr. Habib Rahman Laskar, Mr. Deepjyoti Choudhury, Ms. Rajarshi Dutta Purkayastha, Assistant Professor, Department of Business Administration, Assam University, Silchar for their encouragement, valuable comments and suggestions, which helped me a lot to enrich the quality of the research work.

My special thanks are due to Mr. Chayan Paul, Mr. Arnab Paul, Mr. Subharangshu Dhar, Mr. Rahul Nath and Mrs. Sreoshi Das for their constant support in connection with the preparation of the report.

My thanks are due to Mr. Amoles Sen and other office staff of the department for providing me valuable information as and when required.

I sincerely acknowledge the help and cooperation extended by the Bank Officers and Clerks of the Selected Bank Branches of Barak Valley, who, in spite of their tiring office schedule provided me adequate time for interaction as and when required. Their experience with the work pressure was a great help for the present study. Without their whole hearted cooperation the study could not be completed.

I am also thankful to the manager of Lead Bank office of Cachar, Karmganj and Hailakandi districts; regional branch manager of State Bank of India, Assam Gramin Vikash Bank and branch manager of selected bank branches for their kind cooperation to provide me various required statistics on the research work.
I am really indebted to the librarians of Assam University, Silchar; Gurucharan College Silchar; National Institute of Technology, Silchar; North Eastern Hill University, Shillong; Guwahati University, Guwahati; Dibrugarh University, Dibrugarh; Tezpur University, Tezpur; Indian Institute of Management, Guwahati; for their incessant support in providing necessary materials without any hesitation. Without that the research could not have been completed. The generous help and cooperation rendered by library staffs of these libraries are also unforgettable.

I am earnestly thankful to my family members for the constant encouragement received from them to proceed with the research work in the event of various odds. A mere expression of indebtedness would be insufficient for my mother Mrs. Niyati Dutta, my uncle Dr. Dilip Datta, Head, Department of Mechanical Engineering, Tezpur University, Tezpur, my aunty Mrs. Madhumia Ghosh, my grandmother Mrs. Sarajubala Datta, my brother Mr. Sumon Dutta and others who have been a constant source of inspiration and who provided their relentless moral support and encouragement to complete the work right from the commencement.

I am grateful to all those who have helped me directly and indirectly in the accomplishment of my research work.

While utmost care was taken towards the accuracy and authenticities of the research work, it goes without saying that I fully shoulder the responsibilities of any inadvertent error that might have crept in.
