ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

All praise be to Lord Jesus, who has carved me on the palm of His hand. With You looking intently upon me, only, I am able to accomplish this, my Lord.

My dear Papa and Mammy, your hardships have borne fruit again. Your toil was your prayers. And you have modelled to me the simplicity and beauty of life. Let me present you this blessing in the form of ‘the terminal degree’.

The first person I would like to thank is Dr. Joe Mathew, who placed me on the track of research. All I did was to simply move on. Sometimes it was like a blind man walking without a stick. Then I found people who came forward to help me. But all the credits to Dr. Joe for making me do this.

Standing in the veranda of RIE, knowing not what to do, God sent a person to me. She turned out to be my guide Dr. Kalpana Vengopal. Since then, she has never stopped encouraging and mentoring me. Always ready to offer her assistance and keeping matters simple – this is how I could describe her. Without her support and motivation, I would not have completed this important endeavour in my life. I thank you madam.

I would like to thank Dr. Premlata Sharma who sowed in me the idea of doing a research. My sincere thanks to Dr. Raniprameela, my former guide, who took pain to show me the right way. Prof. V.D. Bhatt, Dean of Instructions supervised my work. Prof. U. Laksmi Narayana and Prof. M.U.Paily of RIE, with their deep insight into research, helped me a lot with my dissertation. I take this opportunity to thank them.

I would like to thank my friends Dr. Sharad Sure, Ms. Vijetha and Mr. Ranganath for the help they have rendered. I would like to acknowledge Mr. Jayaram and Mr. Basavaraj, who helped with my stay at Mysore. My students at GHSS Sreepuram had to put up with my absences due to my Mysore journeys. I thank them too. I would like to extent my thanks to Mr. Debbie Notkin, Contracts Manager, John Wiley & sons, Inc., who granted me permission to use LPI tool for data collection. I gratefully remember the principals and teachers who took time to co-operate with my study.
Finally, to my wife Anu and daughter Sarah. My research project is as old as my daughter. She has been a great inspiration to me. She has lost a lot of playing time due to Appa’s ‘play with computer’. And Anu had to do multi role to keep the family moving forward. But listen, we are one.
