ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the very beginning I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my respected guide, Professor Sandhya Goswami, Department of Political Science, Gauhati University for her invaluable guidance and constant supervision in the preparation of this thesis. It was because of her inspiration and intellectual stimulation throughout the course of this work that I was able to complete it. I am indebted to her for providing me immensely rich and thought provoking comments. Words cannot simply communicate my greatest regards and respect for her.

I am especially grateful to the Head of the Department of Political Science, Gauhati University, Professor Akila Sarma for providing me all the necessary facilities and encouragement for completion of my research work. I am also grateful to my respected teachers Prof. Nitu Hazarika, Professor Monirul Hussain, Professor Nabi Gopal Majieta, Professor Akhil Ranjan Dutta, Dr. Dhruba Pratim Sharma, Dr. Joyanta Krishna Sarma, Dr. Subhranjan Konwar, Dr. Joanna Mahab cree, Smt. Barasa Deke and Dr. Vipra Tripathi for their support and motivation provided during the research period.

I would like to offer my gratitude to the office staff of the Department of Political Science, Gauhati University, Guwahati for their cooperation during my research years.

I acknowledge my sincere thanks to Indian Council of Social Science Research, New Delhi for providing me with financial assistance in the form of a Doctoral Fellowship which helped me to complete my present work without any difficulty.

I would like to extend my gratitude to Sirri Giranga Prasad Des, Principal Secretary, Assam State Legislative Assembly, Dispur and Smti. Pratima Bhaitya, Librarian, Assam State Legislative Assembly for their active help and ready cooperation rendered to me during the course of the research period. I am also grateful to the authorities of Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, New Delhi; National Archives of India, New Delhi; Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi; District Library, Guwahati; Directorate of Historical and Antiquarian Studies, Guwahati; Krishna Kanta Handique Central Library and Indian Council of Historical Research Library of Gauhati University; Office of the Directorate of Archives, Government of Assam, Dispur and Assam Police Central Library, Guwahati for supplying me access to various relevant government documents and reports, private papers of eminent Indian politicians, books, journals, magazines, newspapers, manuscripts etc. Without their assistance and contribution, the completion of this thesis would not have been possible.

I am also thankful to the various eminent people like Dr. Nicole Kumar Barooah, reputed historian and author; Dr. Bhopen Deka, retired Professor; Gauhati Medical College and Social Thinker; Kuntal Kumar Hazarika, writer and Historian; Anand Kumar Sarna, Superintendent, Rajiv Bhawan; APCC, Guwahati and Smriti Mridula Saharia, former Congress MLA, former Chairperson of the Assam State Commission for Women and former President, Assam Mahila Congress Committee who have taken time out of their busy schedule to respond to my various research related queries.

I would also like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the help rendered by the staff of Assam Pradesh Congress Committee, Rajiv Bhawan, Guwahati in providing me with data required for the research work.

I owe my deep sense of gratitude to my parents, Professor Sarada Kanta Sarna and Mrs. Premlata Devi for the continuous encouragement and benevolent support which they have offered to me during my research period. It is because of their blessings that I am able to accomplish the writing of this thesis.

Last but not the least, my earnest gratitude goes to my husband Shri Bikram Bhattacharyya for consistently giving me immense moral support, strength and encouragement to complete my work. I thank him for bearing with me through these years. This thesis would not have seen the light of the day without his sacrifice and patience.

(Sanghamitra Sarna)