ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This thesis — on "Aldous Huxley as Critic of and Literature" — is the result of research conducted under the guidance of Prof. Armando Menezes, M.A., Head of the Department of English, Karnataka University, Dharwar. I consider myself singularly fortunate in having been a student of Prof. Menezes ever since my post-graduate days. I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to him for his kindness, encouragement, never-failing help and guidance throughout the period of this research.

The Librarian and the Staff of the Karnataka University Library as well as the Librarian of the Karnataka College, Dharwar, have helped me with books and in many other ways. My very sincere thanks to all of them.

(V.D. Kulkarni)