ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am deeply grateful to all those scholars from whose writings I have quoted freely in this study, of Administrative Problems of Reorganised Karnataka State covering the period of twenty years from 1-11-1956 to 31-10-1976. I have referred to several Government documents like Orders, Official Memoranda and Reports given in the foot-notes and the bibliography. I thank their authors, compilers, editors, co-editors and publishers. The lack of up to date and adequate documentation on the subject posed several problems in the collection of data. I have intended this research work to fill in the above lacuna.

I am quite aware of the valuable work done by the authors of the Reports like the Linguistic Provinces Commission (Dar Commission) 1948, the Linguistic Provinces Committee (J.V.P. Committee) 1949, the Fact-Finding Committee (Mr. M. Sheshadri), and the States' Reorganisation Commission (Mr. Fezl Ali). But I feel that this piece of research work undertaken by me deals with the subject matter of States' Reorganisation in a different perspective, which may have greater utility to the practical administrators.
who are confronted with the actual mechanics of solution of certain administrative problems encountered by them in the scheme of reorganization of States.

During the course of collecting data, I was fortunate enough to contact several Senior Civil Servants of the Government of Karnataka like the Secretaries to Government, the Heads of Departments, Divisional Commissioners, and Deputy Commissioners. They were kind enough to furnish all the basic data necessary for the preparation of this Thesis. I was also able to go through some of the important files pertaining to the administrative problems dealt with by me in this Thesis. During the course of personal discussion with several Senior Civil Servants, I was able to get much information which is most useful in dealing with practical problems of administration.

The authorities of the Department of Law and Parliamentary Affairs, the General Records Section of the State Archives, Legislature Library, the Department of Finance, the Department of Revenue and Land Reforms, General Administration Department (Integration) of the Karnataka Government Secretariat, Bureau of Economics and Statistics, Directorate of Agriculture, Directorate of Census Operations, Directorate of Printing, Stationery and Publications, of Karnataka Government, Office of the Accountant-General, Office of the Karnataka Public Service Commission, Karnataka State Central Library, Libraries of Karnataka, Bangalore and Mysore Universities, Gokhale Institute of Public Affairs, Bangalore, Karnataka High Court, Bangalore, High Court of Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, and the Government Secretariat of Tamil Nadu, Madras for having readily responded to my request and furnished all the essential data for this study. I am thankful to all those authorities.

My best thanks are due to my Guide Dr. K.V. Vishwanathaiah Professor of Political Science, Karnataka University Post-Graduate Centre, Gulbarga for having kindly undertaken the responsibility of guiding me in this research work, in spite of his heavy official duties. In conclusion I express my gratitude for the advice and assistance which I have at all times received from Prof. K.V. Vishwanathaiah throughout the course of this research work.
