ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am deeply beholden to my guide, Prof. K. S. Deshpande who guided the investigation with his usual sagacious wisdom, scholarly insight, zeal and patience (a rare combination) throughout the research.

This investigation was possible because of the cooperation and assistance of many people to whom I owe gratitude. I am particularly thankful to those who, despite their working problems, willingly took trouble and spared valuable time to respond to the questionnaire. But for their help, this research would not have been possible. It was a joy to meet the professionals working in various parts of the country for this purpose. Also, I would like to thank the university librarians who permitted me to conduct the survey and also to the colleagues and friends, who gave me letters of introduction to university librarians, requesting them to help me in conducting the survey.

I would like to express my gratitude to Shri N. N. Gidwani, former Director of Libraries, University of Rajasthan, Jaipur, for his continued interest, support and advice at every stage of this project.

I am specially grateful to Dr. Amrit Kaur, Professor and Head of the Department of Education, Punjabi University, Patiala, for inducing me to take this problem and for her guidance and advice throughout this investigation including designing of the questionnaire. I am also thankful to Prof. B.S. Bhatia, Head, Department of Business Management, Punjabi University, Patiala, for his valuable suggestions in preparing the questionnaire and extending help and guidance whenever I contacted him for the purpose. I am greatly indebted to Dr. M.L. Mathur, Reader, Department of Statistics and Dr. Trilok Singh, Reader, Department of Education, both of the Punjabi University, Patiala, for guiding me in terra incognita — in statistical techniques used in the investigation.

I am extremely thankful to Prof. B.R. Bhat, Head, Department of Statistics, Karnataka University, for his advice, valuable suggestions and sparing time to help me in statistical matters. I am also thankful to Prof. M.R. Kumbhar, Professor and Head, Department of Library and Information Science, Karnataka University for his encouragement and guidance. I also owe special gratitude to Dr. C.V. Venugopala, Reader, Department of English, Karnataka University, for going through the script and making it more meaningful and to Dr. A.S. Dharanendraiah, Reader, Department of Psychology, Karnataka University, Dharwad who made available to me his expertise in Psychology and went through the literature survey part of this dissertation.

And certainly, I owe special gratitude to Dr. S.R. Ijari, Lecturer, Department of Library and Information Science, but for whose generous help, moral support, encouragement and above all sane suggestions, it would have been difficult for me to complete the work within the time. I am also grateful to Prof. B.B. Hungund, Prof. B.V. Rajashekhar and Shri S.C. Kendadamath for helping me in various ways in the completion of the work.

I also extend my sincere thanks to my friend Mrs. Santosh Varma, for her munificent moral support and ready help.

I would also like to place on record my thanks to the staff of the Punjabi University Library, Patiala, Karnataka University Library, Dharwad, Rajasthan University Library, Jaipur, Punjab University Library, Chandigarh and Sheffield University Library, Sheffield (U.K.) for extending full cooperation by providing me material for preparing this dissertation.

Last but not the least, I am thankful to Shri Suresh Baddi, who bore with me with his infectious smile through the taxing and trying stage of typing the dissertation.

In the end, I thank all those, whose names I have not mentioned for fear of making the list long, but who have helped and extended their full cooperation to me in one way or the other.

Date: 5 July 1984

(K. Navalani)