ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the very outset, I owe my profound gratitude and gratefulness to my guide Dr. H. Nani Kumar Singha, Reader, Department of Manipuri, Assam University, Silchar. I feel privileged to have worked under him. His constant inspiration, unending support and supervision have made the difficult voyage into the realm of knowledge truly a memorable experience. I feel highly indebted to him.

I also take this opportunity to extend my indebtedness to all the teachers in the faculty and the members of the Department of Manipuri, Assam University, Silchar, without whose kind co-operation and support I would not have been able to complete my work.

I am thankful to my friend Saugato Kumar Nath, Lecturer, Department of English, Assam University, Silchar, Prof. Sunil Kumar Dutta, H.O.D. Department of Cultural Studies, Tezpur University, Tezpur for their kind help to complete the present work. In fact, without their help this work would not have been completed in time.

I also express my thankfulness to Prof. Ali Haidar Laskar, Ex-Principal, S.S. College, Hailakandi for giving me no objection certificate while undertaking my research work. My sincere gratitude also goes to the entire staff of the College for their constant encouragement and helps.

I gladly acknowledge my indebtedness to the Librarians of S.S. College, Hailakandi; Central Library of Assam University, Silchar; Cachar College, Silchar and Manipur University Library, Canchipur whose co-operations helped me immensely in completing this study.

My sincere gratitude also goes to Nat Guru L. Lakpati, Imphal; Manipuri Scholar, Aribam Chitreshwar Sharma, Imphal; Nat Guru Moirangthem Babatombi, Panibora; Nat Guru Nameirakpam Jugindra, Bahadurgarh; Pung Guru, Heisnam Radhamohon, Chingdong Leikai; and Pung Guru, Mutum Chaobhal, Chandpur; for their valuable suggestions and providing me necessary informations about Manipuri Nat Sankirtana.
Last, but not the least, I shall fail if I do not appreciate all my family members, viz, my wife Th. Manika Singh, Sanjeevani (Daughter) and Yuvraj (Son) who have extended their full co-operation during the entire period of my humble research project.

This work could not have been typed properly without the patience and untiring labour of Mutum Dinamani Mangang, who took meticulous care in typing the Thesis. My affectionate thanks are also due to him.

I also acknowledge my indebtedness to all those respondents and authors whose works I have consulted, referred and quoted. Lastly, I am thankful to all those whom I might have inadvertently failed to mention here but have made positive contributions in the successful completion of this work.

Silchar,
