ACKNOWLEDGMENT

It is so aptly said that “acknowledgement and celebration are essential for fuelling passion, making people feel valid and valuable, and giving the team a real sense of progress that makes it all worthwhile.” As I have undertaken my greatest journey to date, the record of which is detailed in this thesis, there are many people whose advice, contribution and direction have proved invaluable along this way. It is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study.

First and foremost, I want to thank my supervisor Dr. Prabhjeet Singh (Professor), Department of Biotechnology, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar. It has been an honor for me to work under his guidance. The joy and enthusiasm he has for research was contagious and motivational for me. I appreciate all his contributions of ideas and time to make my Ph.D. experience productive and stimulating. During the tough times in the Ph.D. pursuit, it was his guidance and constant encouragement that helped me overcome the difficulties. I warmly thank him for his valuable advice, constructive criticism and his extensive discussions around my work.

I also owe my deepest sense of indebtedness and gratitude to my co-supervisor, Dr. Ashwani Pareek (Professor), School of Life Sciences, JNU, New Delhi, for his guidance, persistent encouragement, meticulous supervision and considerate behavior. I extend a warm thanks to him for allowing me to be a part of his workplace and for providing an enjoyable place to work in. It was really an intellectually inspiring environment to work in where I could always find new perspectives for my study when needed. His comprehensive knowledge and strategic insights throughout has proved so beneficial during my research work.

It is my immense pleasure to express my profound thanks to Dr. Narpinder Singh (Professor), Department of Food Science and Technology, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar, who has been a constant source of support and guidance. His invaluable perspectives on my research when most needed were very motivating.

I am also extremely thankful to Mr. P.K. Verma (Head), Department of Biotechnology, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar, for providing necessary facilities for execution of my work. I owe thanks to Prof. Gurcharan Kaur, Dr. Pratap Kumar Pati, Dr. Ramandeep Kaur, Dr. Prakash Mishra and Mr. Bhupesh Kumar for their timely support and guidance.

Acknowledgments are due to the non-teaching staff of the department, Mr. Shiv Kumar, Mr. Jasbir Singh, Mr. Harbhajan Singh, Mr. Kewal Kumar, Mr. Savinder, Mr. Rakesh Bhandari, Sonu, Goldy for their support and kind help.
I want to pay sincere thanks to Mr. Harpreet Singh (Head), HMV, Jalandhar, for providing me help and guidance in the area of Bioinformatics used in this study. His contribution is duly acknowledged.

Special thanks to my colleague and friend Ms. Tanima Dutta for living each and every moment of this journey with me. Be it sharing the success and failures of experiments of our research work or the endless gossips we used to have, I cherish every little thing we have done together. It has been wonderful to work with you as a team member during this research. Your fresh innovative ideas and valuable insightful suggestions contributed a lot to this study.

I would like to acknowledge the help and moral support rendered by all the scholars of Department of Biotechnology, GNDU, Amritsar and School of Life Sciences, JNU, New Delhi. I am extremely thankful to my seniors, Dr (s). Sumita, Neelam, Akanksha Mishra, Seeratpreet, Sandeep Singh, Khaitan for their continuous guidance. A warm thank you to my fellow colleagues, Taranjeet, Gundeep, Varinder, Suchismita, Manjari, and many others for providing exciting discussions over endless cups of tea.

I also want to express thanks to my two very special friends, Jessy and Pritika, who have been through my thick and thin, providing me with continuous support during all these years. We have had our share of fights and arguments but we did stick together always. I would not have moved a single step ahead in this journey without you. A big thanks to Jessy, the one I tend to turn to first when I have something to discuss or just need a break. A warm thanks also to my friends Mrinal and Amit, for being there always.

I would like to extend my overwhelming gratitude to my family for being my biggest strength throughout this time. Words can fall short if I express my indebtedness towards my parents. I thank my father for the continuous inspiration, mother for her everlasting love and care, brother for being my support always, bhabhi for being a caring friend and a big thanks to my little nephew, Jastegh, as his cuteness and smile can make any day my best. A special mention is needed here for my lovable dog, Lara, who has provided me with unconditional love always.

Last but the not the least, I owe my humble gratitude to the almighty for bestowing me courage and strength to complete this milestone.

Harsimran Kaur