THE INFLUENCE OF
STORAGE TEMPERATURES ON THE KEEPING QUALITY OF ORANGES
GROWN UNDER DIFFERENT CONDITIONS
IN INDIA

The influence of the soil-climatic complex, orchard variability, cropping seasons, fruit size and storage temperatures on the keeping quality of Coorg and Nagpur mandarins (C. reticulata) and Sathgudi variety of sweet orange (C. sinensis).

By
K. Kirpal Singh, M.Sc. (Agri.),
Fruit Specialist, Punjab, Patiala.

Thesis

submitted to
The Punjab University, Chandigarh
for
The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy

1958