PhD is a project that involves many different types of work, which makes it a very interesting and enlightening period. In my case doing a PhD consisted of a lot of fieldwork and technical work in workshops, analyzing samples in laboratories, computer programming and modeling, writing scientific papers and finally compiling this thesis. I could not have managed to do all of this work within three years without the help of many people. Working with them also made my PhD a much more fun period and here I would like to show them my appreciation.

I am deeply grateful to my guide Dr. M.H. Dashti for his sincere advice and his grateful comments that helped this work to attain its present shape.

I thank the Principal, H.O.D and the staff of Department of Commerce of Poona College for providing the necessary facilities during the course of the study. I am indebted to my dear friends who have always backed me and given me all the necessary assistance whenever needed.

I wish to express my warmest thanks to all those who have helped me directly or indirectly in this academic endeavour.

Last but not the least special thanks to my beloved parents for giving me the moral and financial support. Without their motivation and patience this thesis would not have seen the light of the day.
