By oversight of the typist, wherever there is a quotation, the full point is placed after the inverted commas. It may please be understood that the full stop is placed before the inverted commas. The necessary correction is not made as the number of quotations is large and the copy may be spoilt.

For the sake of brevity, the title of the novel For Whom the Bell Tolls has been abbreviated to The Bell. The "t" of the "the" has been mistakenly typed as a capital.
