VOLUME II

The aim of the contents of Volume II is to formulate the Findings of this study; to enumerate Lessons which can be learnt from the Chandigarh experiment; and to spell out Recommendations which can be adopted in the future development of Chandigarh. Also included in this section are suggestions which may be applied to the planning and design of other urban situations of similar nature, size, and scope elsewhere in India.

It may be recapitulated that Volume I of this thesis comprises Four Parts in which the three identified areas of investigation concerning the Chandigarh experiment -- PLAN, ACTION, and REALITY -- have been completed.

Volume II contains an EVALUATION of the Chandigarh experiment on the basis of the documentation and analysis of the City's PLAN, ACTION, and REALITY. The Findings of the present study, the Lessons which can be learnt therefrom, and the Recommendations based on them have been broadly spelt out.

Graphic Section V, Supporting Material Supplement (Appendices) Volume II, and Bibliography are also included in this volume.
