ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This work, THE CULT OF VISHNU IN KARNATAKA, which embodies the results of my research on that subject carried out under the guidance of Dr. A. Sundara, Professor in Ancient Indian History and Epigraphy, Karnataka University, Dharwad, owes its present shape to my teachers, friends and relatives and to various institutions from where I have derived the source material. It is my pleasant duty to record my thanks to them.

My gurus, Professors Shrinivas H. Ritti and A. Sundara, Dr. B. K. Gururaja Rao and Dr. S. L. Shantakumari of the Department of Ancient Indian History and Epigraphy, who initiated me to the study of Archaeology, Epigraphy and Art, deserve the first mention here and I record with respect my deep sense of gratitude to to all of them. Dr. A. Sundara, who kindly permitted me to take up this study under him, has, throughout the process of my research, ably guided me and supervised the work with valuable suggestions. I sincerely record here my thanks to him.

In the early stages, the work was carried out under the U.G.C.Jr. Research Fellowship, for which my thanks are due to the authorities of the U.G.C.

During the course of research, I have utilized the Libraries of the Karnataka University and Kannada Research Institute, Dharwad Deccan College, Post Graduate Research Institute, Poona, Dept. of Archaeology and Museums in Karnataka and Office of the Chief Epigraphist, Mysore, and of the Office of the Director General, Archaeological Survey of India, New Delhi. I sincerely acknowledge my thanks to the authorities, Librarians and other staff members of these Institutions who have co-operated in my endeavour. I must also mention my indebtedness in this respect to Dr. M. S. Nagaraja Rao, Director of Archaeology and Museums in Karnataka, and Dr. K. V. Ramesh, Chief Epigraphist, Mysore. I also acknowledge with respects the suggestions made by Dr. S. Nagaraju, Reader in Nagarjuna University, Guntur and Dr. Narasimhaiah, Superintending Archaeologist, Archaeological Survey of India, Nagpur.

Shriyuts Cherian and Shadaksharaiah, Research Scholars of the Department and Dr. S. L. Shantakumari, have kindly gone through the final typescript of the dissertation and have also made valuable suggestions. I am indebted to all these persons.
My thanks are also due to Dr. Narasimhaiah and my friends Shriyuts Murlidhar Mudhol, Lakshmikant Rao, C.S. Patil, S.V.P. Halkatti and S.R. Shetty whose constant goading has resulted in the completion of this work. I also thank Dr. Carol R. Bolon, for furnishing me with photo copies of certain publications which were not available in India.

In the final stages of the work, my parents, brothers and other relatives have stood by me in my financial difficulties and my wife Uma and son Vikramaditya have tolerated my ignorance of family matters in the last many months. No words would suffice to express my indebtedness to them for their long patience. But for that, I am afraid, this work would not have been completed at all.

Shri C.R. Kadkol, readily took up the responsibility of preparing the final typescript and of the allied problems amidst his busy schedule. It is with pleasure that I acknowledge his help in this regard.

Lastly, I register my thanks to the authorities of the Karnataka University, Dharwad for kindly permitting me to submit this thesis for the award of Ph.D. Degree.
