ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I should record my deep sense of gratitude to all those who have helped in the completion of this thesis.

I have immense pleasure in recording my gratitude to Dr. William Madtha for guiding me patiently.

It is unjust to fail to thank my husband Dr. H. M. Maheshwaraih who prompted me to study this subject by impressing me upon the richness of Dodda:ta.

Shri. T. B. Solabakkanavar, a seasoned folk-artist, richly deserves my hearty thanks for contacting me with the artists of Dodda:ta. He is the director of the organisation: Karnataka Dodda:ta Gumpu.

I owe much gratitude to my informants who at the formal and informal level readily responded to my requisite queries (Details of them are given in the section 1.3.4).

I am deeply indebted to Dr. K. Anban, Dr. A. Murigeppa and the late Dr. Jayawant Kulli who taught me the first lessons in Linguistics.

My sincere thanks are due to Prof. M. N. Joshi of Karnataka Arts College, Dharwad, who helped me in translating the Sanskrit forms and scrutinizing the entire manuscript.
I should thank Principal, Dr. Veena Shanteshwar for her good will and co-operation.

Prof. B.V. Gunjetti, the Head of the Kannada Department of our College encouraged me to complete my thesis in time. I, therefore, thank him heartily.

Prof. Kanchan Goankar and Dr. Gurudevi Huleppanavarmath helped me in the translation of texts. So, I thank them too.

My Mother, Smt. Susheela Rachayya Vastrad should claim my heart felt thanks for having encouraged me almost at every step.

Last but not the least I should thank my son Suryatej for my unavoidable neglect in writing my thesis.

I am thankful to Shri. S.M. Lohar and Prof. Shashi Shurpali for designing and processing the whole thesis through and through.

With these words I respectfully submit this thesis entitled "Register of North Karnataka Bayala:ta (Field-drama) : A Linguistic Analysis" to the Karnataka University for Ph.D. degree.
