This work has providential significance. It could not have been what it is today but for unstinted and inspiring guidance of Dr. S. R. Narappanavar, Reader in Economics, Department of Studies in Economics, Karnataka University, Dharwad. I am highly grateful to him.

I am very much beholden to Dr. M. C. Kodli, Professor and Chairman, Department of Studies in Economics, Karnataka University, Dharwad for motivating me during the course of the study.

I have received help from all the Faculty Members of the Dept. of Studies in Economics, Karnataka University, Dharwad while on pursuing the research work. I am grateful to them.

I am grateful to the Director of Agricultural Marketing, Government of Karnataka, for permitting me to undertake the research work.

I thankfully acknowledge the encouragement of Dr. V. S. Satyapriya of ISEC, Bangalore and Dr. T. K. Meti of Karnataka University, Dharwad.
I am indebted to the opportune help of the personnel of the Directorate of Cocoa, Arecanut and Spices Development, Calicut. I wish to express my gratitude to Shri M. S. Lakshmanachar and Shri T. C. Ravindran for their help.

I wish to thank Shri Shankar of the Directorate of Economics and statistics, Government of Karnataka. Also, I thank the librarians of the Karnataka University, Indian Institute of Management, Indian Statistical Institute, Institute for Social & Economic Change and University of Agricultural Sciences, Bangalore for their help.

I am deeply grateful to the producers who tumultuously received and encouraged me by providing the necessary data. I wish to thank Shri Ramachandra Putturaya, A. B. Chadaga, M. S. Shivannagowda, Shri Raghunath, D. S. Nagaraj, S. N. Subbarao, G. S. Bhat and all those who have helped me in several ways.

I acknowledge with gratitude the excellent software facilities provided by Shri B. Naganagowd and Shri C. S. Pavate. I am ever grateful to them. My sincere thanks are due to Desai Graphics and Sri Girish Wagh for their word processing help.
I reverently recall the activating help of my parents' in law - Smt. Shanta and Shri S. R. Rao.

I would ever recapitulate the mercurial help of Smt. Nagaveni and Shri S.C. Manjunath.

I am ever fortunate to receive encouraging help and exuberant advice from Shri G. Srinivasamurthy and Shri S. K. Arun.

I gratefully acknowledge the timely help of Shri L. N. Gopalakrishna and Ms. S. Radha. I wish to record with gratitude the help of Prof. M.S. Nagaraja Rao.

I always remember the keen interest, encouragement and help of the personnel of the National Power Transmission Corporation (NPTC), Bangalore Substation- Mr. P. K. Thangachan and Mr. P. Srinivas, in particular.

I profusely thank Smt. Vidya Narappanavar for affectionate hospitality.

I am ever nostalgic about complete identification of Smt. Sandhya in this endeavour which made me work with rigour and zeal.

I blissfully remember Praveen, Shruthi and Samarth.
I thank all my colleagues in the Karnataka State Agricultural Marketing Board and personnel of the Department of Agricultural Marketing for their encouragement.
