References and Bibliography

Fairbank, Maslin, Maulin and Associates in 1995.

248

• Kothari, C.R., (1990), Research Methodology: Methods and Techniques, Published by Wishwa Prakashan.
• Mahajan, Kamlesh, (1990), Communication and Society: The Emerging Human Concerns, New Delhi, Classical Publishing Company.
• Manchanda, Usha, (1998), Invasion from the skies: The Impact of Foreign Television in India, Australian studies in Journalism, Monash University, p. 136-163.
• Maniar, A., (1994), Influences of television viewing on adolescents as perceived by themselves and their mothers in relation to selected variables, M.Phil., Dissertations, M.S., University of Baroda.

• Seiter, E., et. al., (1987), ‘Don’t Treat Us like We’re So stupid and Naive’: Towards an Ethnography of Soap Opera Viewers, Paper presented at the Seminar on Rethinking the Audience, University of Tubinen, February.

• Singh, V.P., Satellite Television and Leisure Activities of the Youth in an Indian City, paper presentation at WLRA, World Congress, (1993), Jaipur.

• Srinivasan, (1990), and Kulkarni, et. al., (1990).

• Statistical Handbook of Assam, (2007).

Internet Sources

• www.altavista.com

• www.google.com

• www.indiastudychannel.com

• www.msn.com

• http://barakbanga.org/welcome.html

• http://barakvalley.com/2008/05/barak-valley.html

• http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Assam
• http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Assam#Media
• http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/barak_valley
• http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_Assamese_language_television_channels
• http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Physical_Geography_of_Assam
• http://mruc.net/latest/indian_television_industry_up,_up_and_away.html
• http://www.indiatelevision.com/indianbroadcast/history/historyoftele.htm
• http://www.silchartoday.com/tour_tavels/assam/silchar/profilecachar.html
• www.ddindia.gov.in
• www.indiatelevision.com