Acknowledgements

First and foremost, I am greatly indebted to Prof. M. P. Bezbaruah, my supervisor and guide, for constantly encouraging, supporting and guiding me in completion of my thesis. He has been always with me throughout the study to keep me in track without which this thesis could not have been completed.

For collecting materials for the present study, I visited various libraries. I would like to thank the staff of libraries of Gauhati University particularly N. Pathak, Assistant Librarian; National Institute of Rural Development & Panchayati Raj, NERC, Guwahati; Jawaharlal Nehru University, Delhi; Indira Gandhi Institute of Development Research, Mumbai; and Rajiv Gandhi University, Arunachal Pradesh for their academic assistances. I would like to thank the staff of Directorate of Economics and Statistics of Assam, Guwahati for their cooperation in my secondary data collection.

For collecting information from field, I surveyed households from villages namely Doloi Gaon, Pub-Sitara, Karara Garbhitar, Chenimari, Hariapar, Bihubori Lachai Gaon, Bhoroluwa Gaon and No. 2 Kowadanga. My sincere thanks goes to all the respondents for their hospitality and great contribution in completion of my thesis. I am thankful to all the Gaonburahs, Gram Sevaks and ADOs I had interacted for collecting necessary information.

I am grateful to all the faculty members of the Department of Economics, Gauhati University for their valuable suggestions and comments. My sincere thank also goes to all my colleagues in the Department of Economics, Rajiv Gandhi University for their helps in different forms during the study.

Throughout the study I received some valuable academic assistance from M. K. Dutta sir, Binoyda, Amiyada and Rajuda. I am very much grateful to all of them. I would also like to thank all my well wishers and friends; Late Amarendra Sarma sir, D. N. Deka sir, Gobin, Chiranjib,
Pankaj Baglary, Kishor, Surajit, Bikash, Bishwa, Pulakesh, Newton Deepda, Prasenjit, Jayanta, Jayashree and Hemanta for their encouragement and support during my study in different ways.

I am grateful to all my family members and in-laws, especially my parents and Limpi, my wife for their continuous encouragement and support throughout the study.

Dhanbil
