A NOTE OF ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the very outset I would like to express my sincere thanks of gratitude to my supervisor Professor Ranju R. Dhamala, Department of Political Science, Assam University, for her guidance, unstinting support, help, remarks and advice from time to time to me during the course of my work. The thesis would not have been possible without the kind support, valuable guidance and inspiration by her. I convey my regards to her.

I also express my thanks to my teachers Professor Debasish Bhattacharjee, Mr. P. Kanakbarao, Dr. Harsha S. and the other faculty members of the Department of Political Science, Assam University for contributing their support and encouragement towards me.

I acknowledge the help extended to me by Sri. Mahmud Ahmed, Chief Judicial Magistrate, Cachar and Sri. Sujaul Karim, District and Sessions Judge, Cachar in providing me necessary information with regard to my study. I also convey my thanks to Smt. R.B. Saikia, Principal Judge, Family Court, Cachar, Silchar for the same. I am also thankful to Smt. Bithika Acharyya, Chairperson, District Level Committee for Crime Involving Women, Cachar for her co-operation and help.

My gratitude also goes to my respondents, constituting an important segment of the study, who have shared their personal experiences and precious time during the process of interview.

I would like to put on record my gratitude to staff members of Central Library of Assam University (A Central University), Silchar; Central Library of Northeast Hill University (A Central University), Shillong; Indian Council for Social Science Research (ICSSR), New Delhi; National Human Rights Commission, New Delhi; National Commission for Women (NCW), New Delhi; Indian Council for Historical Research Centre and North East Network, Guwahati, Assam for their assistance during the course of my visits.
I am highly indebted to Mr. Anuj Kanchan Datta Roy who abundantly helps, supports and encourages me in all respect; merely saying thank you is not enough. I admit the immense contribution of Mr. Monoj Dutta in furtherance of the effort taken by me for this study.

Last but not the least, my beloved family has been a constant source of inspiration and support to me. I admit the understanding attitude and sempiternal love and blessings that I receive from my Baba Shri Rabindra Kumar Roy Karmakar and Maa Smt Kamala Roy Karmakar and my Dimbhai Ms. Madhumita Roy Karmakar not only during the course of writing this thesis but throughout my life. I dedicate this work, to them, as a small token of my regard.

At the end, I am fully responsible for any mistakes in my thesis and none of the individuals mentioned above is responsible for the opinion expressed in the thesis.
