ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to my research guide, Dr. B. H. Amati, Professor and Chairman, Department of Studies in Sociology, Karnataka University, Dharwad, under whose able guidance the present research work was undertaken. But for his inspiring guidance and keen interest in my research work, this study would not have been completed.

I particularly remember at this juncture the encouragement provided by Dr. P. S. Halyal, Chairman, Department of Psychology, Karnataka University, Dharwad, and his wife. I am indebted to him for having provided the constructive criticism.

I take this opportunity to place on record the cooperation rendered by Sri. Hulamani, Dr. Pramila Kunnur, Sri. S. T. Bagalkoti, Dr. A. S. Kadi, and Sri. Karadagi whenever I approached them.

My thanks are due to Dr. Muddapur, Department of Statistics, Karnataka University, Dharwad for having helped me in computerizing the data and in statistical analysis. I acknowledge the help of Dr. S. T. Kallapur who provided helpful suggestions.

This study would not have been completed without the timely help from my sister Lalita and my friends like Mr. R. G. Bhat, Hegde and Ms. Math.
I am grateful to the authorities of the Karnatak University, Dharwad for the financial assistance and necessary facilities in carrying out this research.

My thanks are due to Mr. Subhas Kammar for having typed the first and final draft of this thesis. I am thankful to the rural parents who comprised my sample for their co-operation in my field work.

Finally, I wish to acknowledge an ever lasting debt of gratitude to my loving parents, uncle, aunt, brother and other family members for their keen interest and constant encouragement in all my academic endeavours.
