ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I deem it my privilege to express my gratitudes to my guide, Dr. A.E. Punit, for the guidance and encouragement for this work. I am also grateful to Dr. Kallapur for touching up the language of the thesis and for his many other useful suggestions. I place on record my sincere thanks to all my teachers (now colleagues) in the department for their encouragement and counsel at every stage of my research work.

My sincere thanks to Mr. S.G. Kammar for his help and co-operation and Dr. S.C. Kendadamath, for his help and careful proof-reading.

I must also thank the staff of the library for the reading facilities extended to me in the course of this study, and Kumbar brothers for their neat typing and binding of the thesis.

I am extremely grateful to my loving parents who have been a constant source of inspiration to me in my education. Ours is a joint family therefore it would have been impossible for me to complete this work without the help and encouragement of my husband and other members of the family. They were kind and considerate. I thank them all.
I am indebted to my many informants for their kind and willing co-operation, for their patience and understanding, for their candour and responsiveness, without which it would not have been possible for me to gather information regarding the delicate and intimate theme of changing attitudes of dual earner couples in the city of Dharwad.
