CONTENTS

1. Components of Library Planning: An Overview 1
   1.1 Libraries and the Changing Scenario 4
   1.2 Focus on Planning 5
      1.2.1 Factors of Planning 6
         1.2.1a Time 7
         1.2.1b Data Gathering and Sector Analysis 10
         1.2.1c Levels of Planning 13
         1.2.1d Flexibility 22

2. User in Library Management:
   A Select Literature Survey 25
   2.1 Background 26
   2.2 User Studies 1989 - 1998 30

3. Process Reengineering 37
   3.1 Business Process Reengineering (BPR) 37
      3.1.1 Service 38
      3.1.2 Quality 39
   3.2 Philosophy of Business Process Reengineering (BPR) 40
      3.2.1 Total Quality Management (TQM) 41
      3.2.2 ISO 9000 or BS5750 42
      3.2.3 Information Technology (IT) Strategy 42
   3.3 Implementation of Reengineering 44
      3.3.1 Theoretical Approach 44
      3.3.2 Practical Approach 46
   3.4 Application in Librarianship 57
      3.4.1 General Applications 58
      3.4.2 Special Areas 60
      3.4.3 Managerial Aspects 64
4. Scope, Objectives and Hypothesis

4.1 Scope
4.2 Objectives
4.3 Hypothesis

5. Research Design

5.1 Choice and Details of the Methods
   5.1.1 Descriptive Survey
   5.1.2 Experimental Method
   5.1.3 Case-Study

5.2. Sample for the Study
5.3 Data Collection Tools
5.4 Method of Data Collection

6. Analysis and Discussion

6.1 Profile of the Respondents
6.2 Nature of Information Sought
6.3 Reasons for Seeking Information
   6.3.1 Purpose
   6.3.2 Motivation
6.4 Types of Formal Sources
6.5 Information about Information
6.6 Informal Sources
   6.6.1 Types of Informal Sources
   6.6.2 Formal Vs Informal Sources of information
6.7 Time Spent for Information Gathering
6.8 Delegation of Information Gathering
   6.8.1 Nature of Delegation
   6.8.2 Reasons for Delegating
   6.8.3 Reasons for Non-Delegation
6.9 Expressed Need
7. Application of Reengineering

7.1 Book Processing

7.1.1 Suitability for Reengineering
7.1.2 Goals or Objectives
7.1.3 The Present Process Mapping
7.1.4 Mapping After Application of Reengineering
7.1.5 Gains of Reengineering

7.2 Current Awareness Bulletin

7.2.1 Suitability for Reengineering
7.2.2 Goals or Objectives
7.2.3 The Present Process Mapping
7.2.4 Mapping After Application of Reengineering
7.2.5 Gains of Reengineering

7.3 Information Not Available in the Library

7.3.1 Suitability for Reengineering
7.3.2 Goals or Objectives
7.3.3 Proposed Solution

7.4 Achievements

7.4.1 Halve the Lead-Time
7.4.2 Zero Investment

8. Conclusions and Suggestions

8.1 Conclusions

8.1.1 Users
8.1.2 Information Seeking Behaviour

8.2 Suggestions

Appendixes

1. A Select Bibliography
2. Graphite Industries in India
3. Questionnaire