ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

As the proverbial words like "little drops of water makes a mighty ocean", "the walk of a thousand miles begin with a single first step" etc., it is the little thing that matters and, it was the exiguous favours from the inception of this piece of work, in the form of ideas, opinions, suggestions and above all the love and care that has carved itself and taken the form of this book.

My guide Dr(Mrs)Kusuma Neelakantan is acknowledged here with deep sense of gratitude at the outset for her immaculate guidance and assiduity towards my research work, therewithal to the tender treatment and constant encouragement during my tenure in this Department. I am extremely thankful and much obliged for her cheerful disposition and all the help extended to me without resentment.

I owe much to Dr.B.Neelakantan, Professor & Chairman, Department of Marine Biology, for introducing me to this subject, excogiating the work and providing me the niche to work independently with all the facilities I needed for that thereupon. He was affable and was the source of inspiration. His amicable and stimulating guidance has made it possible to accomplish this task. His incessant and genuine interest boosted up my morale. He scrupulously saw me through the writeup by critically scrutinising the manuscript which has ameliorated the quality of this thesis.

I am extremely thankful and much obliged to Mr.D.J.Vance, Marine Ecologist, C.S.I.R.O., Australia, for his keen interest towards my work, sending me some of the related papers, suggestions and for even sparing his valuable time for going through some of my chapters and suggesting the necessary corrections, which has helped me immensely.

Eventhough the favours extended to me is incommensurable, let me express my sincere and heartfelt gratitude here to all those well wishing teachers, eminent scientists of India and abroad, my seniors, colleagues, staff members of the Department of Marine Biology, a host of friends, family members and family friends and I am sure I will remember them all every time I open this book.

Thanks to all .................
