ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

At the outset I would like to acknowledge the grace of God for aiding me to complete this work. My deepest sense of gratitude goes to my supervisor Dr V. M. Madge for his patient guidance, encouragement, adorable etiquettes and excellent advice throughout this study. This research project would not have been possible without his support. His kind smile and Trollopian sense of humour, which ultimately derives from his favourite Dickens, has always inspired me and made me confident to overcome the challenges during these years. I am sincerely grateful to him and I record my debt of profound gratitude to him.

I am thankful to the Head of English Department and I would also express my indebtedness to some of my well wishers, who had been very supportive during my research work. Thanks to Vicky, a very respectable friend of mine in Pune, who has enthusiastically helped me a lot since the very inception.

Last but not the least; my thanks go to my dear family. First I would like to express my deepest sense of gratitude to Father who unfortunately is not here in the world but whose memory has been a strong source of encouragement to me all along these years of toil and sweat. I just cannot imagine how happy and proud he would have been to his daughter’s doctoral work.

Next I would like to thank my lovely mother, sisters and my two brothers Abbasali and Hamid whose support helped me get through the challenging years and keep my feet on the ground. Thank you for being there when I needed you most, for your prayers, for the unconditional love and for other countless things which you have done and that kept me going. What you have done for me cannot be seen but may be felt with the heart, I am immensely indebted to you for all your timely help.
