CHAPTER - 6

GEOPHYSICAL INVESTIGATIONS
The ground water prospects map reflects the different areas with different degree of ground water potential. This is done with the help of satellite data and thorough field check. These zones identified from the satellite image can be further probed by studying the geophysical parameters. Hence, in this chapter, the ground water prospects are stated first followed by the geophysical investigations.