ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This Ph.D. work is about the study of Nutrition and Ecological Conditions among Parsis of Iran and India. The study was conducted in both the countries of Iran and India. The field work for this study was for a period of 18 months from the month of January 1992 to June 1993.

At the outset, I take pleasure in expressing my sincere gratitude to Dr. N.K. Kadetotad, Department of Anthropology, Karnataka University, Dharwad under whose supervision and guidance the present work was carried out. Without his constructive criticisms, it would not have been possible to complete this research work.

I am equally thankful to Dr. A.V. Narasubhai, Department of Zoology, Karnataka University, Dharwad, my research Co-guide who gave me immense support and strength to take up this research investigation.

I am thankful to Dr. C.G. Hussain Khan, Chairman of the Department of Anthropology, Karnataka University, Dharwad for his kind courtesy and help provided to me to complete this study.

I am also thankful to Dr. K.G. Gurumurthy, Professor and Ex-Chairman of the Department of Anthropology, Karnataka University, Dharwad who gave me an opportunity to join this Department and later encouraged me in studies.
I am indebted to the Karnatak University Librarian and staff for providing me the necessary books in time.

I am very grateful to Dr. Y. Rama Mohan Rao, J.S.S. College, Dharwad for his whole hearted encouragement during this Research Study.

This work could not have been achieved without the genuine co-operation of the Parsis. So I owe my sincere and deep appreciation to the Parsis of different parts of Iran and India, who spontaneously co-operated with me, while collecting the data for the present study.

I am also thankful to all the staff members of the Department of Anthropology who have directly or indirectly helped me in bring out this Thesis.

Mrs. Violet Humphreys and family of Hubli, have gone through the manuscript within a short period. I am indebted to them for their help in making corrections of the manuscripts.

Of equal importance, I owe my sincere gratitude to my beloved parents, brothers and sisters who were equally responsible for me undertaking this research work.

In addition, I am also grateful to all my Research Colleagues and friends for their help in various capacities.
In conclusion, I also appreciate Mr. Santosh's efforts who constantly typed the material neatly in a very short time.

JAFARI FARAH