ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I have immense pleasure in recording my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Srinivas K. Saidapur, F.A.S., FNA, Professor of Zoology, Karnataka University, Dharwad not only for providing me an opportunity to undertake research in the field of tadpole biology under his excellent guidance but also for his constant encouragement, affection and help throughout the course of this investigation. My indebtedness to him can only be signified, not repaid.

I am equally happy to extend my sincere gratitude to Dr. Bhagyashri A. Shanbhag, Reader in Zoology, Karnataka University Dharwad for her constructive criticism, constant support and encouragement during the research work.

I record my sincere thanks to the Chairman, Department of Zoology, Karnataka University for facilities. I am also thankful to all my teachers in the Department of Zoology for their encouragement. The present work was supported by a Junior Research Fellowship awarded to me out of a grant (No. SP/SO/C-022/95) from the Department of Science and Technology (DST) awarded to Prof. S. K. Saidapur.

I am grateful to Prof. I. D. Shetty, Department of Statistics, Karnataka University Dharwad and Prof. A. P. Gore, Department of Statistics, University of Pune, Pune for their help in data analyses.

My thanks are also, due to all my research colleagues and friends who have helped me directly or indirectly throughout this investigation. I also extend my thanks to Mr. D. B. Gorekhan and Mahantesh Veerkar for their help in collection and maintenance of tadpoles. I thank Mr. Devaraj, forest guard, Anmod for his help during field works in Western Ghats.

I sincerely acknowledge the cooperation and encouragement extended by Shri. S. P. Kulkarni, KAS, Special Land Acquisition Officer, Sherasthedar Shri Madhusudhan and Shri Sheshgiri, Upper Krishna Project, Bheemarayangudi.

Lastly, I am greatly indebted to my parents Smt. and Shri. C. B. Hiragond for their eternal encouragement and help in building my career. In addition, my thanks are due to my wife and relatives for their moral support and encouragement.
